O thee, fair Buckeye state whose mother heart Hath given of its life blood to her sons, We here inscribe this book and send it forth, That to the minds of all it may impart Hints of the fluid rich that in thee runs,... A glimpse of those who prize and know thy worth. Thou givest to thy children ample room To drink at wisdom's fount from day to day; Stalwart and strong they come in manhood's bloom And on thy brow the wreath of homage lay.

Territorial Act to Establish Ohio University at Athens

"That there shall be a University instituted and established in the town of Athens,  for the instruction of youth in all the various branches of the liberal arts and sciences, for the promotion of good education, virtue, religion, and morality, and for conferring all the degrees and literary honors granted in similar institutions."

Section 1. Territorial Act, January 9, 1802

Preamble

"Whereas, institutions for the liberal education of youth are essential to the progress of arts and science, important to morality, virtue, and religion, friendly to peace, order, and prosperity of society, and honorable to the government that encourages and patronizes them," etc.

Act of Ohio Legislature, February 18, 1804.

The State of Ohio

(NOTE: To illustrate the general theme of this annual—"The History of the State of Ohio"—each section page throughout this volume contains a view of an important event or industry in the history of the state. The views are arronged in chronological order so as to portray the progress of the state from the time of the first settlers leaving Ipswich Hamlet in 1787 to the present with its many and varied industries, depicting especially Agriculture, Manufacturing, Mining and Transportation within the state.)

Some Peaks of History

bar and and and

HIO has more colleges and universities than any other state in the Union—that in itself is very significant. When Bathsheba Rouse as the first school-teacher in the state taught school in the summer of 1789 at Belpre. she was a pioneer in that great educational scheme which was to place the state of Ohio among the very foremost in the instruction of her youth. In this early and later systems Ohio University, the first University west of the Alleghenies to receive a public land endowment. has always had a place of importance. It is uniquely interesting that the history of the United States as such. of the state of Ohio, and of Ohio University is contemporaneous, since their beginnings are rooted in that wonderful year of 1787.

Every Ohioan knows of the famous Ordinance of 1787. but one . provision is of more than common interest: "religion, morality, and knowledge being necessary to good government and the happiness of mankind. schools and the means of education shall forever be encouraged." Rufus Putnam and Benjamin Tupper. members later of the Ohio University Board of Trustees, first organized the Ohio Company, and Manasseh Cutler. its agent and an expert lobbyist. secured from congress nearly a million acres of land along the Muskingum River. On April 7, 1788 the first settlers came and founded Marietta, so named in honor of Marie Antoinette. the French queen. Before the end of the eighteenth century. Cincinnati. Dayton. Chillicothe. Cleveland, and Zanesville were established. Congress in 1800 divided the Northwest Territory into two parts, the Indiana Territory and the Northwest Territory, with the capital of the latter located at Chillicothe. This Northwest Territory became the seventeenth State-Ohio-on March 1, 1803. A constitution was drawn up and Edward Tiffin was elected first governor. A new constitution was adopted in 1851, which with some amendments in 1912 is the same we live under today.

Fame in men and deeds have come to Ohio to prove her greatness as a state. Great and good governors Ohio has had and her national statesmen are numerous. Ohio by birth or training gave the greatest Union generals: Grant, Sherman, Sheridan, Buell, Rosecram, McClellan, McPherson, and McDowell. If we include William H. Harrison, who was born in Virginia and lived in Ohio after 1814, Ohio has produced eight presidents of the United States, namely, Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Benjamin Harrison, McKinley, Taft, and Harding.

ENA

FTER three years of anticipation and eager expectation it has been announced that the student body, within another twelve months, will be gathering for convocations, musicals, and college plays in a new and spacious auditorium. The building, seating several thousand people, will contain equipment for staging the finest dramatic and musical productions, and a splendid pipe organ for daily noon-hour or vesper recitals.

All classes, with the possible exception of the class of 1928, are familiar with the details of the campaign inaugurated to secure for the University the finest auditorium to be found on any campus in the state. For the benefit of the Freshmen a brief resume is made.

Early in May, 1922. a number of prominent alumni came together in a meeting which gave birth to the idea of a gift building for their Alma Mater. Plans for a structure such as they conceived called for an estimated expenditure of $300.000. An organization of students, alumni, faculty members, and citizens of Athens was effected to secure pledges for an Auditorium Fund. The efforts of the soliciting groups were not successful immediately. Many extenuating circumstances and conditions were apparent for their failure to attain an early success. Continuous work on the project, however, has brought the total amount pledged and paid into the treasury to well near the $200,000 mark.

The finance committees of the State Legislature, without hesitancy. approved a request of the state in the amount needed to complete the fund. The new building, therefore, will be under way shortly after Commencement, 1925.

Super Hall

THENA

So imperative had become the need for larger quarters and more complete equipment in the Department of Physics, Engineering, and Manual Training that a new building was planned and begun in the late fall of the present year to house those departments.

The new structure is located on President Street opposite Science Hall just below and next to the new gymnasium. It is built in the form of a "T" with a 100 foot front and fifty feet deep. The back part of the building (and of the "T") is 60 feet deep by 56 feet wide.

The first floor is to be used for auto mechanics work. under the Professorship of George McLaughlin. Prof. McLaughlin and Prof. A. A. Atkinson will occupy the second floor together. for iron work and manual training. The third floor is to be given over entirely to the Physics Department and the fourth floor to Civil Engineering.

The building is built of cut stone up to the second-story windows: from there up it is to be of brick. When entirely completed, which is expected to be by the first of September, it will be approximately the same height as the men's gymnasium, at a total cost of $200.000.

Unusual honor has been given to Dr. Charles W. Super. former President of Ohio University as well as Dean of the College of Liberal Arts, in the naming of the new hall. Dr. Super has been a life-long resident of Athens. Although quite old now, he is one of her most honored and respected citizens as those for generations to come will be reminded while enjoying the opportunities offered by Super Hall.

NE of the newest additions to the Ohio University campus is Scott Hall. Scott Hall is the name of the University Training School now under construction at the foot of the East Union Street hill. The new building is named in commemoration of William H. Scott. president of Ohio University from 1872 to 1883.

Scott Hall will have its front on East Union Street. the front being 175 feet long. The first floor will contain rooms for manual training, home economics, elementary grade classrooms, and an auditorium-gymnasium. The auditorium-gymnasium measures 50x60 feet, with a stage 15x30 feet. On the second floor will be the rooms for special education, kindergarten, classrooms for elementary grades, officers, and rest rooms. A roof garden will be located over the auditorium-gymnasium for display purposes. On the third floor will be found the clinic rooms, reading rooms and classrooms.

The building is large enough to care for twelve grades. However, only the first six grades will be found there as the Athens Junior High High School receives the pupil ready for the seventh grade.

Food D

Scott Hall will probably be under the direction of Prof. A. F. Myers. the present head of the Training School. A staff of more than twenty teachers will be needed to carry on the teaching of the pupils.

The cost of Scott Hall will be over $200.000. The contractors state that the building will be ready for occupancy by the beginning of the fall term. September, 1925.

Senior Caps and Gowns

T HE custom was adopted during the early presidency of the late Dr. Ellis. The founders of the Ohio University were of New England stock, and this custom comes down to us from the English traditions. It serves to keep in mind the ideals of those who founded the university.

During the last weeks of school the seniors and faculty members, clad in caps and gowns, lead the student body beneath the McGuffy Elms and up the main walk to the university chapel, where the Senior Day exercises are held. There, seated on the platform, they have the first opportunity of facing the student body and faculty. During this exercise the President of the University as well as the President of the Senior Class make short addresses.

At each succeeding convocation until commencement time the seniors appear in cap and gown. They occupy a reserved section of the auditorium.

This practice has existed long enough to become a tradition, and a fitting one it is, for it provides a time when the whole class may assemble in a body before going out into the world where they will scatter to follow their separate pursuits, probably never to come together again as a group.

Senior Insignia

HEHAR

T HE Senior Class this year has taken the first step toward establishing another tradition at Ohio. Many have felt the need of distinction in some manner between the classes of the University. Knowing that the Freshmen have as their distinctive insignia, the green cap, the Senior Class sought to choose something that would be in keeping with the class.

Two committees were appointed to select an insignia for the men and women of the class. After some deliberation the committee for the women chose a white flower with green leaves, the colors of the University. The committee representing the men chose to carry canes. The ideas of the two committees were put before the class and accepted. The members of the class have given the idea their hearty support and it is generally believed that the reaction toward the idea is such that will make it one of the established customs of the Senior Class.

It is well for each class, after being here for four years, to leave some tradition to their Alma Mater. School is not altogether what we take away, but what we leave as well. Heretofore, there has been no means of distinguishing the Seniors from the rest of the upper classes, but this tradition serves as a basis for such distinction. Already the class of next year has given this movement its hearty approval.

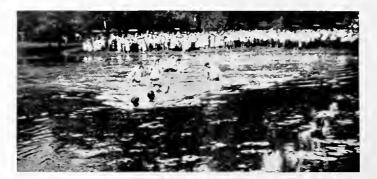

Thus, the class of 1925 leaves its tradition.

Tug-of-War

HENA

NE of the most significant events of the college year is the annual tug-of-war on Memorial Day.

Thousands assemble to witness this event which continues. oftimes for but a few minutes. but minutes full of great expectations and fears.

There is usually the keenest rivalry at this time of the year between members of the Freshmen and the Sophomore classes. Here is one last opportunity for them to express this rivalry, to find the better of the two classes, at least as concerns a tug-of-war.

On the State Hospital Grounds, there are very beautiful little lakes. The contending classes assemble and a rope is stretched across the lake. Certain designated members of each class take their places and the struggle is on. The contest ends with the "tugging" of the losers through the lake.

The Freshmen won the contest last year. But, by being advanced one year, the Sophomores are always anxious to conquer their brotherly enemies. Who will float with the water lillies this year—the Freshmen or the Sophomores? A difficult question to answer, but we eagerly look forward to Memorial Day for the outcome.

Freshman Insignia

H

T HE upper classes, feeling that there be some means of distinguishing them from the Freshmen, have always felt that it would be to their benefit to have the new class wear some insignia of their rank. So, it is customary for the new men students to wear the small scull caps and the co-eds, on the left arm. a green band bearing the letter "O" in white.

Let it be known that the wearing of this insignia works no hardships upon the members of the class, providing they comply with the rules and regulations as set forth by the Campus Activity Advisory Board.

Skit Show

MONG the greatest events on the Campus and looked forward to by both students and people of Athens is the annual Skit Show. This event has two purposes: namely: to furnish an annual frolic and, more important, to secure funds for the League Loan Fund.

The twelfth annual Skit Show was presented March 27 and 28 in Ewing Hall. It was characterized by dances, songs, and such other events as even a crossword puzzle.

The Annual Skit Show has become a tradition at the Ohio University, and is eagerly looked forward to by all who have had the opportunity of once viewing it.

Founders Day

UR Alma Mater has had a long career: it was the first college to be founded west of the Alleghenies; each year finds it growing in material wealth and in number in attendance.

But, in our desire for knowledge we should not lose sight of the hardships that the Founders of our institution underwent that we might "daily grow in knowledge, wisdom, and love."

The Ohio University was officially established February 18, 1804. A celebration is held each year known as Founder's Day, at which event various exercises suitable for the occasion are rendered. The purpose of this event serves to give new students not only an idea of the early life of our College. but also its aims. The speakers for this year were President Bryan, and Deans Voigt, McCracken, and Chubb.

The Junior Prom

T HERE is one great event each year for the Junior Class: this is the Junior Prom.

Each year it is the purpose to make this affair a little better than the preceding one. To give the students an opportunity to make new friends and enjoy old ones is always a primary object.

How we long for this night of nights to come. What expectations have been ours! How we wonder if the music will be up to our expectations! What vague fears of imagination we bring to mind concerning our friends for the evening!

Huh! and then—all too soon this night. for which we have long waited has passed away: nevermore will we be Juniors. The great event has become history.

Tap Day

A S the name implies this is the method used in the selection of the members to the highest men's honorary organization. —TORCH. Selection is made on Senior Day from (as a rule) the men students in the Junior Class.

In order to gain admission into Torch a student must have shown proficiency in scholorship: been prominent in campus activities: and in addition have an outstanding personality and the proper attitude towards the University and his fellowmen. Tap Day is surrounded with a great deal of mystery as the present members of the organizations go forth to "tap" the ones of their choice.

CRESSET is an organization at the Ohio University, similar to Torch, but for the women. To be eligible for this organization a girl must have a scholastic average of ninety for the first three years of her college study: she must in addition, have sixteen points of campus activities.

MEMORIALS

ATHENA

The Monument

N the year of 1893 the people of Athens County erected this Monument as a Memorial to their fallen dead in the dreadful struggle of the Civil War.

Further, the people of Athens County erected this monument in honor of those who early gave their lives that this Country might be free and her citizens enjoy a nation established upon the principles that "all men are created free and equal." May the recollection of this Monument serve to keep those principles before us throughout our future lives.

We must remember that the future prosperity of our nation falls upon us, as College Graduates, to instill those principles within those who we come in contact. Ours is a noble purpose, and we should so control our actions that the lives which we live are not tarnished, but stand like this memorial, straight and staunch throughout the ages.

This monument is to perpetuate Free Government. As an emblem to that cause a pictorial reproduction of the monument is embodied in the cover design of this volume.

T HE place where many dates were made, and many vows taken only to be broken again.

What fond memories this picture calls to our minds. Here is where we whiled away many happy hours, not soon to be forgotten. For us it marks a place of—but the Sun Dial actually marks the cite of a former log cabin which was at that time the old American University Building, the first building on the Ohio University grounds. This was also the first building devoted to higher education in the old Northwest Territory. Latitude 39° 19' 33". What a comparison between that far distant day and the present. Then, a vast wilderness full of Indians and wild animals now the site of a well-kept campus, with beautiful buildings and trees. placed there by man, and around it all a hustling and hurry to complete the task of our education.

Drinking Fountain

THENA

A IA

N a central part of the Campus we have a memorial to which many come and many go each day.

For many years after the founding of the Ohio University students found it necessary to repair to a spring near South Bridge for their drinking water. This was continued for several years, but owing to the inconvenience and increased enrollment a cistern was completed on the Campus.

Contrast the above mentioned ways with the present. The Class of 1911, understanding the preceding conditions, erected the Drinking Fountain, thus being a material aid to the further conveniences on the Campus.

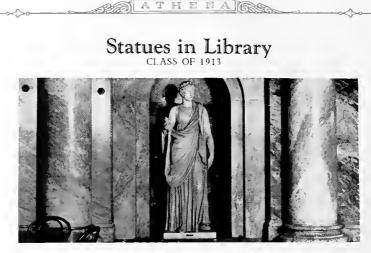

North Gateway

CLASS OF 1912

VER the pathway leading from the Men's Union and Howard Hall to Cutler Hall is the North Gateway. How imposing is this Memorial, standing there apart from and yet so connected with the Campus. It seems to be calling us to higher aspirations and ideals: that we should be as ready to give aid as to receive and to impart our noblest knowledge to others as it was given to us. The long straight path from this gateway to "Old Cutler" may be likened to the history of our Alma Mater. always with a goal in view.

This Gateway was presented by the Class of 1912.

MONG the many places on the Campus with which we are very familiar is the Library. The Class of 1913 contributed to the Memorials by placing the Statues in this building—one on the right, the other on the left of the front entrance.

Here is a place of peace and quiet: the books preserve the thoughts and ideals of those who have gone before us. and only by diligent study do we gain in "knowledge, wisdom, and love" from those who have left us their message. The Statues seem to bear out the idea that here is a place for study and contemplation: and as the treasured volumes preserve long past lore, so may these Statues be a memory to our lives.

The Clock

CLASS OF 1914

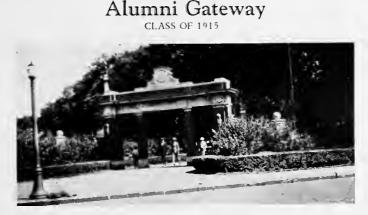

HIS Memorial was presented by the Class of 1914, and is nobly serving its purpose.

"we are but minutes, little things."

How true this statement is Our College course will soon be over, the professors will see us in their classrooms no more, but still the clock will call other students to class. Back of this all is a lesson for each one of us; life is too short to waste our time, or of those with whom we come in contact. Possibly in some of our classes we have wasted precious minutes, or been inattentive, when we should have paid the strictest attention. Yet we have made a good start along our life's work; let us so continue.

Our class may part, but let us still remember that time goes on forever.

A

 Δ S we first make our entrance onto the Campus of the Ohio University we notice the Alumni Gateway.

This Gateway was erected during the year of 1915. by members of the Alumni. It was erected in honor of the one-hundredth anniversary of the first graduating class of the University. Thomas Ewing was a member of this class.

We are pleased to note that the late Professor C. L. Martzolff was very influential in having this Memorial erected.

The Bird Fountain

CLASS OF 1915

HOW pleasant it is on a summer morning to awaken to the songs of countless numbers of our feathered friends. the birds.

The Class of 1915 saw fit to erect a place where these little friends of ours might come and quench their thirst. Here on an afternoon in early summer, we may see many birds flying down from the nearby trees to delight in the reveries of the Bird Fountain. The songs they utter afterwards more than repay the cost of this memorial.

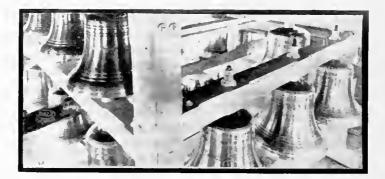

But we must remember that the songs of the birds are not the whole of their economic value, for by protecting and affording a pleasure for the birds, we are protecting our own interests and welfare.

1925 GHAD

The Chimes CLASSES OF 1917-1925

T HE Chimes Fund was started by the Class of 1917. Classes before that time had given some memorial to the College.

Under the able direction of Professor Hoover, the Chairman of the Fund, the money which has been turned in has been invested in Government bonds when below par and sold when above par. In this manner, the Funds are bearing a good rate of interest; at present being invested in United States Bonds on Certificate Deposit at 6% interest.

It is proposed to have the Chimes located in the New Memorial Auditorium.

The students who enter in future years, and the people of the city of Athens, will have the opportunity to hear the Chimes ring out. How soft and sweet this will be as the sound floats over the beautiful Hocking River and loses itself among the valleys of the distant hills! Then will members of the Alumni point with pride to this gift, and the Memorial Auditorium, and feel proud that their class contributed funds to make this pledge a reality. They will have a deeper feeling and a better respect for their Alma Matre, for they have contributed toward making it more efficient and on a par with any other university.

The Class of 1925 is nobly making a donation to augment this Fund.

Lresident's Foreword

A S an expression of appreciation I desire to congratulate the staff of The Athena of 1925 on the character of work that has been performed in the publication of this attractive year book. It faithfully and fully portrays the various activities and interests of the University. With the theme. "The History of the State of Ohio" that is carried thruout the volume it also gives to the reader an insight into the interests of the state from the time of the first settlers to the present.

On behalf of the Trustees and the University Administration I extend to all readers of this volume the greetings of the University.

Positions held since graduation: Supt. of Schools, Homer, Michigan; Prin. of Waterford Academy; Supt. of Public Schools: Professor of Natural Science, Chamberlain Institute; Assistant in Histology and Embryology, Cornell; Professor of Biology at Ohio University since 1900.

Fraternity: Sigma Pi.

THE Department of Biology was organized in 1890 with Henry E. Chapin at its head, but an embryo of the present department with its large enrollment.

Dr. W. F. Mercer came to his work as head of the department in 1900, and under his leadership the remarkable growth in the number of students enrolled and the efficiency of the department has taken place.

The Biology Department, starting with only slight rudimentary equipment absolutely necessary to carry on its work with any degree of success, has increased and is increasing its amount of apparatus until at present it is very well equipped for its work. More than twelve courses are yearly offered and a pre-medics course is given which compares favorably with that of any firstclass college.

Department of Chemistry

WILLIAM BURDELLE BENTLEY, Ph. D.

Professor of Chemistry

Degrees:

A B Harvard 1899; A. M. 1890; Ph. D. 1898.

Positions held since graduation:

Associate Professor of Chemistrv and Physics. University of Arkansas: Professor of Chemistry, Ohio University.

Fraternities:

to address to a

American Association for the Advancement of Science, American Chemical Society.

UNTIL 1894. Chemistry and Physics were included in the Department of Natural Science and were under the leadership of Professor W. M. Stine. At that time, however, the two subjects separated to form the basis of the Departments of Chemistry and Physics. With the latter was included Electrical Engineering.

Chemistry began its life as a separate department under the professorship of Dr. Walker Bowman. with four courses, and an enrollment of nineteen students. Dr. W. B. Bentley, the present head of the department, became the Professor of Chemistry at Ohio University in 1901. In 1910 Professor J. R. Morton became connected with the department as instructor. During Dr. Bentley's absence from Jan. 1918 to Sept. 1919, he was head of the department.

L. J. ADDICOTT. C. E. Professor of Civil Engineering

Degree: C. E. Case School Applied Science.

Positions held since graduation: Professor of Civil Engineering, Ohio University.

PROFESSOR L. J. Addicott, the present head of the Department of Civil Engineering became its organizer in 1904. For the first four years of its life it had its home on the third floor of West Wing, now called Sorority Hall, then in 1908 it became at home in its present quarters on the third floor of East Wing.

This department in cooperation with the Department of Electrical Engineering supports an Engineers Club. under the Greek name of Pi Epsilon Mu which is most beneficial to the Engineering Students. The club sponsors the showing of many instructive films and at some time during each year, brings some well-known speaker on subjects directly adapted to the department to the Ohio University Campus.

Positions held since graduation: Instructor Latin Y. M. C. A., Chicago, 1918-1920; Classical Languages, Ohio University, 1920—

THE Department of Classical Languages and Literature consists of a combination of the departments of Latin and Greek which for many years previous to 1922 had been maintained separately.

Professor Victor D. Hill was made head of fthe Department of Greek some years ago, then in 1920 the Department of Latin was combined with the former under Professor Hill's directorship. A year later, Professor H. F. Scott became associate professor of Latin and Greek, which combination continues to the present time.

Positions held since graduation: Instr. Public Sch., Franklin Twp., 1887-1893; Prof. of Commerce, Obio University, 1893—

T HE growth in both efficiency and enrollment in the Ohio University School of Commerce has been almost phenomenal.

Commercial branches were first offered in 1893. during the presidency of Dr. C. W. Super. Charles M. Copeland and Mabel K. Brown were the first instructors and the only subjects taught were: Accounting, Commercial Law. Stenography, and Typewriting. At that time one room, which was delegated from time to time from various Halls on the Campus, was sufficient to take care of the students.

However, the need for room necessitated more spacious and comfortable accommodations. Accordingly, two years old, the entire third floor of Ewing Hall was given over to the occupancy of the department.

The number enrolled in the various branches of the School of Commerce has increased from 177 in the first semester of 1922-23. to over 275 majors alone in the department the first semester of the present year. to say nothing of the many who are taking elective work in the department.

IN no other department of Ohio University has rapid growth made itself more manifest than in this.—the Department of English Language and Literature. the beginning of which dates back to the year 1860. In the early years. from 1860 to 1885, it came forth as a definite department. During the past forty years it has constantly won more importance until at present. it offers not only courses in English Language and English Composition, but many which include the works of great artists of literature from Chaucer and Shakespeare to the modern writers of both prose and fiction.

Positions held since graduation: Teacher of French and German at S W. State Normal School, California. Pa : Professor of French. Ohio University.

N 1895, the Department of French was first established at Ohio University. In that year there was but one class in French given. From that time, there has been a steady increase in the enrollment, which now exceeds 270 students, as well as the variety of courses offered. Not only are courses given in beginning and advanced French Composition. but also in French Literature. authors, and their plays, and a teachers' course for prospective teachers.

As an aid and stimulation to the increasing growth in the department, correspondence with students in France was offered to the more advanced classes.

Departmant of German

MAUDE CRYDER MATTHEWS, A M. Professor of German

Degrees:

A. B., Ohio University, 1917, A. M., University of Chicago, 1920.

Positions held since graduation: Instructor in German and French, Ohio University: Assistant Professor of English, Frances Shimer School; As-English, Frances Shimer School: As-sistant Professor of German, Ohio University.

Fraternities:

Cressett; Zeta Tau Alpha.

FOR many years the Department of German was combined with the Department of French and the two were entirely in charge of one professor. In the early years of the twentieth century, the former became distinct from the Romance Languages. The interest in German was so pronounced that in the year 1916, almost one-fourth of the students were enrolled in various German Classes.

The German Department disappeared with the entrance of the United States into the World War in 1917, but as soon as the war had closed, classes were resumed under the leadership of Mrs. Claude C. Mathews, the present head of the Department.

Department of Italian

G. T. WILKINSON, A. M. Professor of Italian

Degrees:

A. B., Wabash College, 1911; A. M., Harvard, 1912; Columbia, 1916-20.

Positions held since graduotion:

Instructor in French, Wabash College: Asst. Professor of Modern Languages, University of Missouri: Instructor in French and Spanish, Columbia University: Professor of Romance Languages, Ohio University.

Fraternity: Phi Beta Kappa.

NEED for courses in Italian was sensed for some time before these courses were really offered. It was not until the year 1922 that Professor G. T. Wilkinson became the head of the newly established department in this language which. in natural beauty, real value, and linguistic perfection. is not excelled by any other language at the present time. A new esteem was gained for the Italian language by the association made by the soldiers during the World War.

The work in this Department of the University makes an appeal primarily to those students who are particularly concerned with the teaching of languages, and to those who are working in the field of comparative literature, of music, or of the fine arts.

Department of Journalism

GEORGE STARR LASHER. A. M. Professor of Journalism

Degrees:

A. B., University of Michigan, 1911; A. M., University of Michigan, 1917.

Fraternities:

Sigma Xi; Gamma Alpha.

MR. R. L. BORGER came to Ohio University nine years ago as the head of one of the oldest as well as one of the strongest and most important departments.—the Department of Mathematics. Dr. William Hoover had occupied the position the twenty-five preceding years.

Some of the courses offered by this department are: Trigonometry. Analytical Geometry. Differential and Integral Calculus. Analytic Mechanics. Mathematics of Finance and a number of other courses. In the past few years, very helpful and instructive courses have been offered by this department also in theoretical and practical astronomy.

Department of Music

Fraternities:

Phi Mu Alpha (Sinfonia); Rotary Club; Kappa Alpha; Musicians Club, N. Y.; American Association of University Professors.

THE Ohio University School of Music has increased by leaps and bounds during the past decade. In the fall of 1922. Professor Clarence C. Robinson succeeded Dr. Alexander B. Thompson as Director of the Music Department. So great has been the increased enrollment that two buildings are now occupied by the School.

Opportunities are offered for degrees of A. B. in Public School Music, A. B. in Music-Voice, piano, or violin, and M. B. A two-year course is also offered in Public School Music.

The School of Music sponsors both the musical fraternity. Phi Mu Alpha, and the musical sorority, Sigma Alpha Iota; also a girls' and a men's Glee Club, both of which won the State Championship this year.

Fraternities:

Tau Kappa Alpha: National Collegiate Players,

FOR many years the Public Speaking Department of Ohio University has been training aspirant orators, and actors. In 1916, the department gained membership to the honorary dramatic fraternity of associated University Players and soon after a dramatic organization was established which now bears the name of "The Revelers." All students are eligible to membership in the latter organization but the personnel of the former is limited to those students who have exhibited good acting ability by taking some major part in one of the College plays.

Under the sponsorship of this department two plays are usually presented each year and any students in the university may try out for parts in these plays. Furthermore, all debating activities are directly under the supervision of the Department of Public Speaking.

 \mathbf{F} ROM the time that Spanish was first taught in Ohio University (1901) the demand for it and interest in it. have had a steady growth. In 1901 the teaching of Spanish in American Colleges was very rare, a fact which made quite a creditable showing for Ohio University.

As the years passed, course after course was added until in 1917, a Department of Spanish was established.

Professor Victor Whitehouse came to Ohio University as head of the department eight years ago. At present Prof. Whitehouse is on a leave of absence, doing work at Harvard University for his Doctorate degree. During his absence. Mr. George Otto Pferez is taking his place as head of the Spanish Department. Professor Whitehouse expects to return to the University and resume his regular work next Fall.

Department of Economics

HOMER V. CHERRINGTON, A. M. Professor of Economics

Positions held since graduation: Prof. of Economics, Cornell College, Iowa; Prof. of Economics, Ohio University.

E CONOMICS is one of the comparatively old subjects taught at Ohio University, having claimed a department, at first in cooperation with history, for more than half a century. It was in 1916 that History and Economics became individual departments. In 1920, however, Sociology was joined with Economics and the two were known as the Department of Economics and Sociology for three years, when they separated and the Department of Economics once more stood alone.

Professor Homer V. Cherrington began his work on the University Faculty on March 16, as head of this department coming direct from a position as head of the Economics Department at Cornell University, Iowa.

Department of History

WILMER C. HARRIS, Ph. D.

Professor of European History

Positions held since graduation: Blees Military Academy, Macon. Ga.; Grinnell College, Grinnell. Iowa; Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio; Butler College, Indianapolis, Indiana.

Fraternitics:

American Historical Association: American Society of Church History; Delta Upsilon. M^{R.} W. C. Harris and his assistant Professor E. J. Jones have thought it wise to have their students better informed as to ancient. prospective, and especially the modern European conditions. As a result, the Department of History of Ohio University has placed special stress on the study of European History. leaving the discussion and study of American History entirely to the History Department in the College of Education.

"We cannot understand the problems of America as a World Power without first being acquainted with the background in European History."

Therefore, as an aid to a better understanding and more comprehensive citizenship, the study of European History is encouraged.

Department of Agriculture

Fraternities:

Beta Theta Pi; American Association of Science: American Forestry Association; American Society of Naturalists: Obio Academy of Science,

THE Ohio University Department of Agriculture became a separate department in 1911. at which time it branched out from the Department of Elementary Service.

The department has its home on the second floor of the Agricultural and Home Economics Building, which was completed in 1915.

Dr. W. F. Copeland, as head of this department, is assisted by Professor O. E. Dunlap as the Associate Professor.

The two-year course, which was formerly the only one offered, has been replaced by a four-year course, which confers upon its graduates the degree of B. S. in Agriculture.

Department of Civic Biology

WILLIAM ALDERMAN MATHENY, Ph. D. Professor of Civic Biology and Botany

Degrees:

B Ph., Ohio University, 1908: A M., Clark University, 1909; Ph. D., Clark University, 1911.

Positions held since graduation:

Asst. in Botany, Clark University; Professor of Civic Biology and Botany, Ohio University,

Fraternity:

Beta Theta Pi.

THE Department of Civic Biology and Botany developed from the Department of Elementary Science with its present head, Dr. W. A. Matheny, as its director.

In 1916 Professor A. W. Boetticher became the assistant in the department.

At first the courses offered had to do mainly with Botany. Now. however, they include courses in Civic Biology, Botany. Zoology, Home Economics Biology, Ecology, and Household Biology.

The Department of Civic Biology and Botany is similar to the Department of Biology in the College of Liberal Arts. except that it treats its subjects from a more economic and agricultural standpoint.

Department of Education

ATHEHA

THOMAS COOKE MCCRACKEN, Ph. D. Dean of College of Education

Degrees:

A. B., Monmouth College, 1904;
 A. M., Harvard University, 1911;
 Ph. D., Harvard University, 1918.
 Positions held since graduation:

Assistant Professor of Education. University of Utah. Salt Lake City. Utah; Dean of Graduate School and Head of Department of Education, Colorado State Teacher's College, Greely. Colorado: Dean. College of Education, Ohio University.

Fraternities:

Phi Delta Kappa: Kappa Delta Pi;

THE purpose of the Department of Education is to make known both the history of education and its principles in order that there may be a better understanding of, and improvement in modern educational progress: to introduce prospective teachers improved methods of teaching and to bring them face to face with the actual situations through practice teaching: and to familiarize the student with the various types of learning as well as teaching.

There are now eleven professors connected with the Department of Education in its various phases. Each year the number of students increases as the need for such educational instruction and training is more keenly realized and the type of work offered as well as the equipment for carrying out that work continually improves.

Department of English

Degrees:

 A B., Ohio University, 1896; A. M.
 Ohio University, 1897; Litt, D.
 (Honorary) Franklin College, Ind., 1911.

Positions held since graduation: Department of English. Ohio University.

Fraternities:

Delta Tau Delta; Phi Mu Alpha.

MR. Hiram Roy Wilson is the head of the Department of English in the Ohio University College of Education. which became a separate department from the Department of English Language and Literature in the College of Liberal Arts in 1905.

Dr. B. L. Jefferson is associate professor with Dr. Wilson while Miss Mary Kahler and Mr. R. M. Slutz are both assistants in the work.

The aims of the department are: better oral and written expression: improved appreciation of good literature: and more beneficial methods of teaching English subjects. The latter is especially stressed as the duty and aim of the Educational College is to give specific training.

Perhaps one of the greatest growths of any department in the University has taken place in this English Department.

Department of Extension

SIMEON H. BING. A. M.

Professor of Correspondence Study Degrees:

A. B., Rio Grande, 1910; A. M., Ohio University, 1915.

Positions held since graduation: Superintendent of Schools. Proctorville, Ohio: President. Rio Grande College; Professor in Extension, Ohio University; Director Correspondence Study, Ohio University: Member of Ohio House of Representatives.

Fraternity:

President Ohio Academy Social Sciences.

THE Department of Extension work which was organized nearly fifteen years ago has grown to employ not merely one Professor in its various activities but many. Its growth has been almost phenomenal as it offers opportunities to many who could not otherwise, for different reasons, afford the education offered by such a department.

The remarkable growth of the department can only be realized from the fact that in the year 1910 to 1911, only 79 students, or members were enrolled, and the first semester alone of the present year more than 900 students were enrolled.

The work of the department is carried on by means of a required fee of $4.00 per semester hour for entrance.

Department of History

PROFESSOR T. N. Hoover became Head of the Department of History at the time of its organization in 1908.

Since the beginning of the separate History Department in the College of Liberal Arts. which treats almost exclusively of European History. this Educational Department has confined its range to American Historical conditions and facts with an aim of not only teaching the American History content but also with the purpose of giving training in methods of teaching history.

The present curriculum includes courses in American Government. American History, International Law, Municipal Government, and Ohio History: a two-hour course is also offered to Juniors and Seniors in practice teaching of history in the Junior and Senior High Schools.

Department of Home Economics

SUSAN LOUISE ECKEL, B. S. Professor of Home Economics

Degrees:

B. S., University of Cincinnati, 1918; Columbia University, 1920.

Positions held since graduation: Instructor Vocational Home Economics, Bryan, Ohio; Principal, Department Home Economics, Ohio University.

Fratervities: Phi Upsilon Omicron: Pi Kappa Sigma.

D URING the past few years, the interest and enrollment in the Department of Home Economics has experienced a remarkable growth. Its work is planned primarily for teachers in the elementary and secondary schools, but it is designed as well to give those who take the work, a general knowledge of Home Economics as a practical science in the home-making art, as well as in vocations other than teaching or home-making.

Miss Louise Eckel became the head of the department in 1920 and with the aid of Misses Prudent Stevens. Marian Morse, and Mrs. Clarice C. Racey as assistants. a successful school has been built up which enrolled over 90 students in the second semester of the present year. 80 of which are majors in the work.

Department of Kindergarten

Degrees:

 A. B., Wilson College: A. M., Teachers' College, Columbia University, 1922; Diploma, Cincinnati Kindergarten Training School.

Positions held since graduation: Kindergarten Wyoming Public School, Wyoming, Ohio: Head of Kindergarten Department, Ohio University.

Remarks:

Recording Secretary of the Ohio State Kindergarten Association.

THE Kindergarten Department was established in 1907 with but eighteen students enrolled, all of which were five years old. Children of both four and five years are now accommodated. The work of the department is three-fold: namely, the direction of the Kindergarten, the training of teachers, and the conducting of a Mother's Study Club.

Until 1923, the department was adequately housed in the basement of Ellis Hall, but in that year it outgrew its quarters and moved to the first floor of Ellis Hall where it is at present.

The department is under the leadership and guidance of Miss Constance T. McLeod and is doing a very successful work.

Fraternities:

Phi Beta Kappa: American Phychological Association; American Association for the Advancement of Science; International Congress of Zoology; National Education Association. Remarks:

Editor Journal of Applied Psychology.

IN the early years of its existence as a subject in the curriculum at Ohio University. Psychology was taught by the presidents of the college. However, the growth of the institution soon made the continuance of such a plan practically impossible. Therefore, in 1886 Dr. John P. Gordon was given the Professorship of Philosophy and Ethics.

The year 1905 saw the Department of Psychology combined with the newly organized Department of Paidology under the direction of Dr. Chrisman. But, in 1922, the two departments were separated and Dr. James P. Porter became the head of the Psychology Department.

Since that time several assistants have become connected with the department, namely, Prof. E. B. South, Prof. J. R. Gentry, and Prof. H. J. Peterson.

Then I have felt the press of things Drear heaviness of life which springs From thoughts that will not let me be. That speaks of home incessantly: Forlorn, beside a tree I stand Which early came from alien land And gaze upon its downcast mien The drooping form so dead yet green: My cowardice to drive away. My fortitude once more array, Because, near home if I be sad What pain, what grief this tree has had. —Baymond M. Shutz

We love to read of heroes of the past, Or gaze upon the statues of the great, Who lived and strove in honor of their state— Renown is theirs and will in story last. We love the ancient, golden days that cast The light and shadow of perspective late Upon events which we commemorote In times that add to this historic rast. And reading of the past we wish that we Had been alive to know the famous men Of other years whose tales are now retold; When all the celebrated history Was new; we enter in the spirit then And never know aur college hearts of gold.

History of the Class of 1925

OHIO University dates its official establishment from 1804, but it was not until 1815 that the first commencement exercises were held, when Thomas Ewing and John Hunter graduated. They were the first persons to receive collegiate degrees within the northwest territory.

It has been a century and a decade since the first two graduates left with their degrees, and now the graduating class numbers more than a hundred times as many members, or one-half the total number of students enrolled a quarter of a century ago. With its 210 members, the Class of 1925 represents the largest body of graduates ever to leave the University at the end of an academic year.

Four years ago most of the students of the class came to Ohio University at the same time that our esteemed president and co-worker. Dr. Elmer Burritt Bryan, came. The Senior Class of 1925 regards it as an honor and a unique distinction to have Dr. Bryan as its class advisor and to have been the first Freshman class under his administration, as well as to be the first Senior and graduating class to enjoy the full four years under his direction.

The Class of 1925 has no misgivings as it reflects on its record of the past four years, and it hopes that it will never feel any compunction for its future story. That it has enjoyed every single year of residence at Ohio, though none has been so delightful as the last, is attested by the expressions of its individual members. Nor does the class lay its laurels on mere size, but is pleased with its accomplishments and its larger and perhaps more important history is to be written and read in the years that are to come.

We wonder of the appellation attached to the end of her name has anything to do with her going south. We think not, for she would be just as sunny at the north pole. English, Social Science and carmel pic are her specialties.

History of The Class of 1926

THREE years ago the doors of Ohio University opened to the Class of '26. The things unfolded therein opened wide our eyes in amazement, for we were but innocent green Freshmen venturing out upon the great broad field of knowledge.

Under the able leadership of our freshman president, Foster Crumley, we vanquished the Class of 1925 in a Tug-of-War at the State Hospital grounds, giving them a bath amid the slime and water lillies. It marked our emancipation from freshmanhood. The next act on that eventful day was the burning of our "crowning glory," the green jockey caps.

How proud we were in September, 1923 when we entered the University once more—now as Sophomores. We had come back with the determination to fight on the field and in the classrooms for the high ideals of our Alma Mater, and to enforce upon the lowly freshmen the rules set aside for him to obey. William Rochester stood at the helm guiding the Class of '26 safely through its second year.

And now we are Juniors, the class being under the guidance of "Bill" Beckwith. The class as a whole is a little more serious perhaps, but among its members one will find many of the prominent men and women on the campus; men and women who have done things and who are doing things.

Three years have come and gone. Ere many weeks we too hope to be Seniors. Judging of the past we are all looking forward to the future. wondering what our last year will have in store for us as a class. The canes, the gardinias will then be ours —the Class of 1926.

The Clas

IN September, 1923, some six hundred or more unworldly Freshmen were admitted to the realms of Ohio University. After the customary scramble, bustle and all that goes with the opening of college, the Freshman Class was herded together, for the first time, by the Senior-Junior Governing Board. At this time, class officers were elected which permitted the class to go on by themselves,—as long as they wore the "O" scull caps, "O" armbands, and obeyed the "O" Book Rules.

The Class of '27 chose Hewitt Mathews to lead them in their first year of college life. Hewitt led the class with the fineness of a born leader, as well as the many other activities into which he entered. But he was claimed by a Higher Being, and so his work on this earth was finished.

of 1927

College life continued in a smooth manner for the remainder of the year, with the Freshmen contributing their men and women to the various affairs that were open to them on the campus.

In 1924 a goodly number of the original "600" returned and college life was resumed. A few of the men were on the Varsity football squad as well as on the basketball squad. Other members of the class took their places on the campus in numerous other activities.

On April 17th the Sophomore Hop was held at the Armory. The Hop was a huge success in every respect. It is hoped it will become, like the Junior Prom. an annual affair on the University campus.

Note: Names and courses are arranged alphabetically as shown on the records of the University, September, 1924. No two year graduates are listed in this register.

The Cla

WILL we ever forget the day that we first arrived in Athens: promenaded up that long by-way which we have since learned to call Union Street: viewed the University Campus for the first time, and finally found our way to our new abodes?

After the thrill and excitement of the first few days, we realized that we were only Freshmen. We were soon compelled by our superior classmen to secure the Freshman Insignia—the green "O" cap for the men and the green "O" arm band for the girls. Yes, we were also given to understand that it we appeared without them, we would become acquainted with the water lillies in the artificial lakes "Tis true-too true.

The class, with an enrollment of about eight hundred students, organized early and elected Frank Howard as its president. During the first semester the class met once a week in the course College Problems under the supervision of President Bryan. Much unity and class spirit was aroused as a result of these meetings.

At the end of a profitable year, we are now eagerly looking torward to a greater year as.—Sophomores.

The Campus Vogue

Originality is one tribute and perhaps the only one that can be paid to the styles of our campus. Perhaps this originality may be accounted for when we consider the danger that a publisher who pictured such styles would perhaps subject himself to.

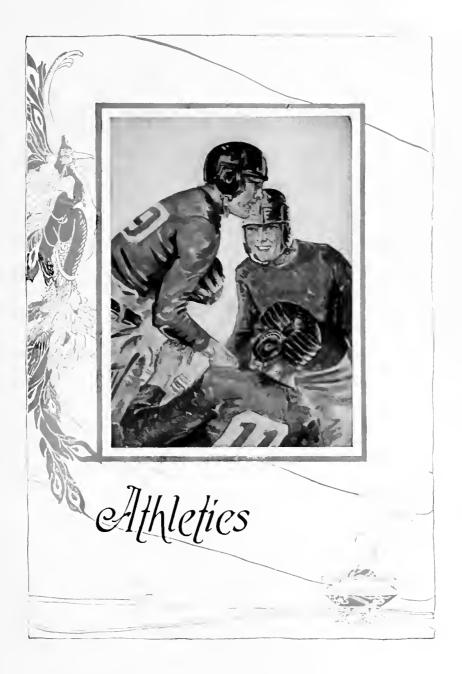

Consider first the slicker a la signboard. Fraternity preps need study no longer Baird's Manual or consult a College Directory for any name because on these walking signboards we have the entire greek alphabet as well as the names and pictures of the entire student body.

Then the lumber jackets! A visitor who had not been informed previously would think this an agricultural college with forestry as the major course. These loud checker colored jackets have become a real fad among not only the masculine gender, but also the feminine.

Too, we have the opposite extreme. Canes and gardenias. Our seniors have chosen these weapons as their mark of distinction. Have you noticed the tall slim men balancing on their canes and after observing both for an hour, finally decided which was which? Both equally thin and blank. Then the short, fat model who carries the cane and reminds us of that famous advertisement. "Before and After".

These are the extreme styles and can we wonder that one of our faculty accused the sororities of having early prep week. It's hard to determine whether the wearer is forced to don such apparel or really desires to look foolish.

Such is the campus vogue. QUEER? Yes, but amusing!

Athletic Department

By O. C. BIRD

HIO UNIVERSITY is just passing through one of its most successful years in athletics. Success, not alone from the standpoint of games won or the position in the percentage columns of the press, but success from the standpoint of growth and development. Ohio University was represented this year by real athletes who were a great credit to their Alma Mater. The good sportsmanship shown by teams and rooters was a fine advertisement for Ohio University and was an improvement over other years.

O. C. BIRD

Looking at it from a less important standpoint. namely, the position in the percentage columns. I believe, that there were very few football and basketball teams in this state better than our own. In football our schedule called for all the leaders in the state and no other team in Ohio could have gone through this schedule with a clean slate. Ohio University has demonstrated that she is not afraid of hard schedules and that it is possible to make the season a huge success in spite of this handicap. Through a better understanding with several of the colleges in southern Ohio, much of the unpleasantness of schedule making has been eliminated.

With the completion of the men's gymnasium, track athletics have taken a new lease on life. Because of the lack of outdoor track facilities it will be impossible at present to bring our track athletics up to a level with other colleges in this section of the state.

Because of a lack of interest among the colleges and universities of the conference, we have done very little with wrestling this year. Next year many of the Ohio conference schools have signified their intention of taking up this activity and so Ohio University will endeavor to draw up a strong schedule in this sport.

C. D. GIAGUE

This year we supported an inter-collegiate tennis team. the first one for several years. Tennis is fast becoming a popular sport among the colleges of the country and much interest has been shown at Ohio.

One of the most important activities carried on at Ohio University is that of intramural athletics. This department has developed greatly this year and the program was carried on with very little friction between the various teams and organizations. A larger percent of students took part in the program this year than any other year. The aim of this department is to give every student an opportunity to take part in some form of intramural activity. We all hope that within a year or two we will reach the 100 per cent goal and all students will be represented in this program.

THE Athletic Advisory Board consists of ten members, five of which are chosen annually by the students of the University. Three of the members chosen from the student body must be upperclassmen. The remaining five members of the Board are chosen from the faculty and include the Director of Athletics, and the Graduate Manager. The election is held in April when the annual elections of the Men's Union are held.

The duty of the Board is to sanction all letter awards recommended by the coaches, to select managers for all sports, to conduct tryouts for cheerleaders, and to make suggestions concerning the athletic policy of the University.

Review of the Football Season

WITH only a few lettermen, but a large squad of likely looking prospects. Coach Peden began preparation for the strenuous season.

With but ten days of practice Ohio defeated the strong Rio Grande College team 10-0.

Another week of practice in ironing out the wrinkles that cropped out in the first game. and the Green and White squad journeyed to Springfield to meet the strongly touted Wittenberg team. The Ohio team showed for the first time the fighting spirit that was to characterize their later play. In the closing minutes of the last quarter Captain Rohleder of Wittenberg scored the only points of the game with a thirty yard place kick.

The following week Oberlin invaded Athens from the North. Oberlin scored first on a long forward pass, but Ohio came right back with a steady drive up the field, tied the score, then went into the lead with a place kick for the extra point. In the final quarter Oberlin scored again by the forward pass. Ohio made a desperate effort to score in the closing minutes, but the time was too short.

The first conference victory of the season was scored against Kenyon. The scrappy aggregation from Gambier put up a great battle, but Ohio would not be denied. Gamber scored the only points of the game when he crashed over for a touchdown in the second quarter.

The Ohio Northern "Polar Bears" came to Athens full of confidence. With half the battle down in history Ohio led 7-6. With only a few minutes remaining Northern opened up a passing attack and a long forward pass was completed which turned the tide of victory. The final whistle found Ohio on the short end of a 12-7 score.

Ohio's old jinx. Denison, was the attraction on Homecoming and Dad's Day. Ohio scored first on a great run by Sayles. Denison came right back, however, and tied the score by taking advantage of a fumbled punt. There was no further scoring till the final quarter when Denison scored on a long forward pass. The old jinx was much in evidence.

In the final contest of the year Ohio did the seemingly impossible by defeating Ohio Wesleyan at Delaware 6-0. The only score of the game came in the first quarter when Gardner blocked an attempted pass and Wise picked up the ball and ran sixty yards for a touchdown. Ohio fought her opponents to a standstill and Wesleyan was unable to score. It was a most fitting close to the 1924 season.

C. C. BARRETT. Captain-Center

"Cliff" playing his last year as leader of the varsity put up a great game at center during the entire season. His passing was accurate, and he was especially good on the defense. His best game was the Denison game in which he stopped everything that came his way, and repeatedly broke through and nailed the Big Red backs for a loss behind the line of scrimmage.

UNTO 1925 615

W. H. HERBERT, All Ohio Guard

Playing his third season as a regular. Bill played the greatest game of his career. In every game of the season he distinguished himself for his aggressive playing. He was exceptionally fast at getting down the field under punts and on the kick-off. His all-around play in the Denison and Obio Weslevan games won him the honor of All-Obio guard. President Bryan in speaking of this stellar lineman said. "Herbert is as good a guard as any man his weight who ever played football."

M. A. CONKLE, Tackle

"Tinv." the largest man on the squad, put up a great game in his first year of college football. His work was exceptionally fine at Wittenberg where he repeatedly broke through and stopped Beichlay before he could break away. Next season will find him a yastly improved tackle and great things are expected of him.

C. O. DOLLINGS, End

"The scrappiest end I have seen in action this season," said a prominent Ohio sport writer of this midget. "Dol" despite his size plaved the game of his life the past season. He was a terror on defense and handled tackles twice his size on offense. He rose to his greatest heights in the Marietta and Weslevan games when he intercepted passes at the critical stages of the game. He received mention on the second All-Ohio teams of nearly every newspaper in the state, an honor which he deserves.

C. M. BLYTHE, Tackle

New at the game of football. Charlie developed into a first-class lineman before the season was ended. He was an important section of Obio's great line and played good football the entire season. It was a frequent thing for him to break through and throw an opposing back for a loss. With two more years ahead of this big boy our advice is to keep an eye open.

T. D. SAWYER, End

The junior member of the "big end" combination, "Ted" proved to be a capable substitute at one of the flank positions. His ability to pull down passes made him a valuable man together with his ability to play tackle when called upon to do so. We are mighty glad that he has another year of service on the team.

G. F. SWEENEY, Quarter

Jack in his first year of varsity competition proved a capable field general, and a fine punter. He outkicked every foe the Green and White met by a large margin. He was also efficient in carrying the ball, and his return of punts brought the spectators to their feet time and again. With two more years of experience ahead, a great future is in store for the Athens boy.

R. A. KENNARD, Halfback

ATHENA CRO

Only a sophomore. Kennard was one of the best plunging backs on the team. He bored his way through the kenyon and Oberlin lines for big gains, and showed that with more experience he will be one of the outstanding backs of the Conterence.

F. J. O'DONNELL, End

"The fighting Irishman." as he was dubbed by the Ohio rooters, did not start many games this year, but gave the opposition something to think about when he entered the battle. A three year yeteran. 'Mick" always worked for the welfare of the team and the University. His outstanding performance of the season was in the Oberlin game when with Ohio trailing, he snared two long passes and carried the ball the length of the field.

G. F. GAMBER, Fullback

Gam⁺ was the defensive star of the Ohio backfield, and it was his deadly tackling at Wesleyan that kept Ohio in the ball game – On the offense, his work was always consistently good, and not one team was able to stop this hard hitting back. His line plunging against Oberlin and Northern was spectacular and seldom was he thrown for a loss. We predict an All Ohio berth for him next year.

T. W. SMITH, Guard

"Hop" won his letter for the second time in football this year. He played a most consistent game at guard the whole season, and proved a most capable running mate for the speedy Herbert. His defensive work was excellent, and on the offense he was especially effective in getting in the interference on off-tackle plays. We predict that "Hop" will play the game of his career next season.

W. H. KEPLINGER. Quarter

"Kep," dubbed the "greyhound" by his sensational return of punts, is a triple threat man. His passing, punting, and ball-toting made him one of the most valuable men in the backfield. In the last few minutes of the Oberlin game he was a whirlwind, and in the Wesleyan game his field generalship was most commendable.

H. G. MORITZ, Halfback

The only veteran in the backfield. Moritz had a steadying influence on the new men. His hard hitting ability in driving off-tackle will long be remembered by Ohio fans. A dependable kicker, he could invariably add the extra point after touchdown. His graduation will leave a big gap to be filled next year.

D. D. WISE, End

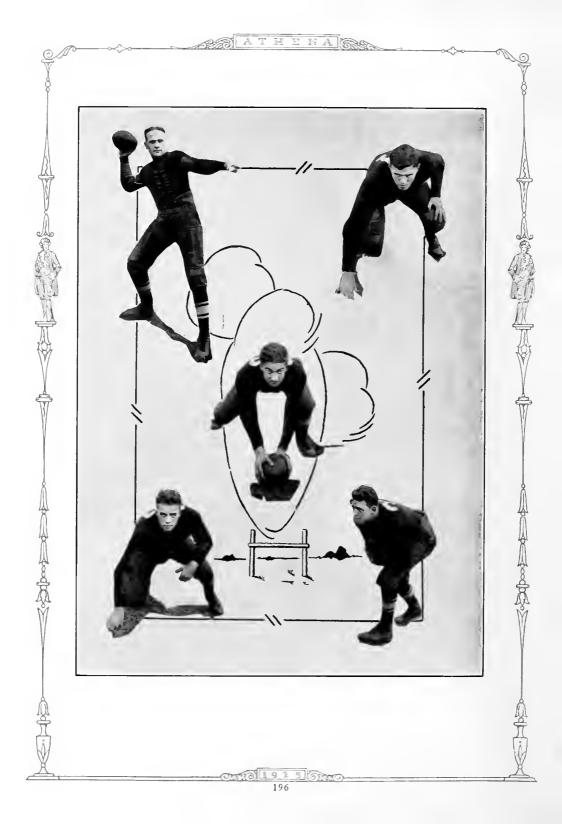

It has been reported that Oberlin is raising a fund to crect a monument to this scintillating player, for it was his great run at Weslevan, following the interception of a forward pass, that gave Ohio her greatest victory in vears and made Oberlin the Conference Champions. One of the lightest ends in the Conference, "Gravy" stopped everything that came his way on defense, and on offense was always on his toes. The best thing is that he has two years of competition ahead of hum.

G. F. GARDNER. Captain-elect. Tackle

Larry" completed his second year on the Varsity in a blaze of glory for it was this sturdy lineman who broke through the Wesleyan line and blocked the pass that the alert Wise carried over for the only score of the game. Playing in the backfield last year. Gardner was developed into a great tackle this year. He is a fighter, a plugger, a believer in team play, and will make a great leader of the team next year.

E. J. SAYLES, Halfback

"The Toledo flash" was one of the best open field runners on the team. His ability to pivot, pass, buck the line, and tackle made him a regular from the first game. His great off-tackle run for Ohio's touchdown in the Denison game was a feature that will be long remembered. His defensive play always stood out, and many runners were stopped on the line of scrimmage by this stellar back.

C. H. HUDSON, Halfback

"Hud" was a most capable half this season, and proved his worth on several occasions. One of the fastest backs on the team he was especially good in going off-tackle and around the ends. His passing ability, which almost spelled defeat for the Ohio Northern "Polar Bears." was most noteworthy. A great future is in store for this back in his two remaining years.

J. H. LONGLEY, Tackle

Shifted from backfield to the line, "Red" found his position at tackle and developed with a rush. As the season drew to a close, he got his chance, and in the Denison game played like a veteran. Time and again he drove through the interference and stopped the shifty Rogers for a loss. "Red" will make them step next year for that tackle position.

H. C. MCCORD. Center

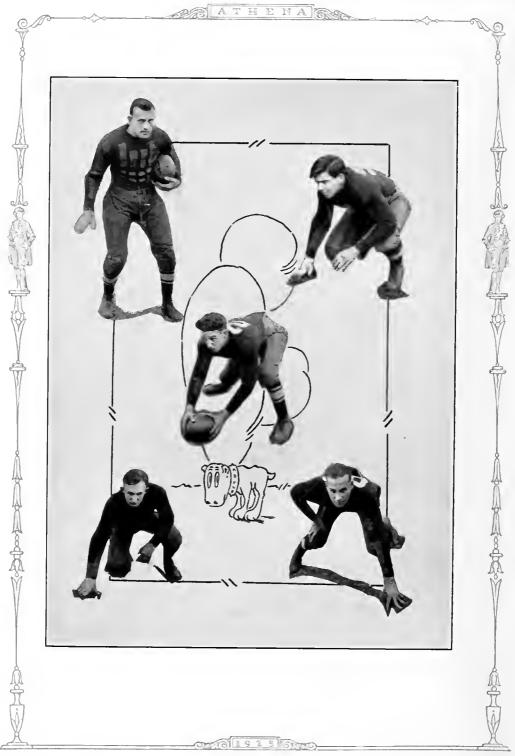

"Mac" has served two years on the squad as sub center. He is a hard worker and has a record of not missing a practice session in two years. While not getting in many games. "Mac" has demonstrated his worth by his faithful service, and his untiring efforts for the success of the team.

A. Y. WILCOX, Tackle

Handicapped by injuries received in practice early in the fall. Abbot didn't see much action till near the close of the season. Fast in his charge and accurate in his tackling he proved a dependable man to send in when any of the regulars were disabled.

A. E. DORAN, Fullback

"Bud" as second string fullback never failed when called upon to fill Gamber's position. Deadly in his tackling, and his ability to sense the forward pass made him a valuable man. His offensive strength improved as the season advanced. Doran has withdrawn from college for the present, but it is our hope that he will return next year, for he has a bright future before him.

G. R. WEAVER, End

A splendid receiver of the forward pass, and speed in getting down the field under punts characterized the work of this end. In every game in which he took part he acquitted himself in a most creditable manner. While Weaver does not expect to return next fall we hope the call will become too strong for him to resist, and that the opening whistle will see him in action.

C. R. DUNCAN, Guard

The silent man of the squad developed into a most dependable substitute before the season was ended. Whenever called upon to replace one of the regulars he performed the job in a most thorough manner. In the Wesleyan game his work shown like a beacon light, and was an inspiration to his teammates. With the experience gained this year he should be a regular next season.

D. A. DEFRANCIS, Center

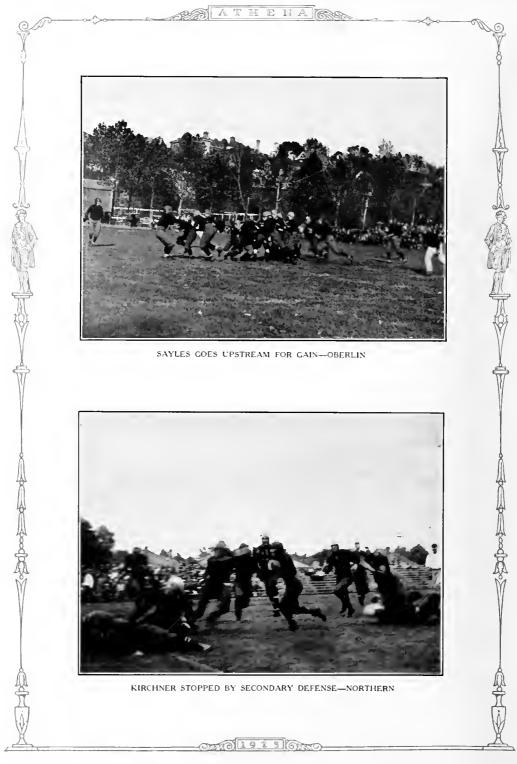

"Demonico" made up for his lack of weight by his aggressive spirit. He was a most capable substitute for Captain Barrett, and demonstrated this on numerous occasions. With a little more weight "De" will make any center in the conference step for the honors.

F. M. GUTHRIE, Guard

While "Gus" did not see much action this season, the experience he gained will make him a valuable man for Coach Peden next year. Small in stature he, nevertheless, put up an aggressive game, and was good at opening up holes for the backs to drive through.

C. A. BROOKS, End

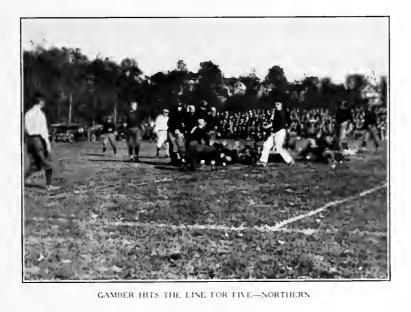

Our hat is off to this man for the spirit he showed the past season. When many were quitting he stuck it out and remained a faithful member of the squad the entire season. The spirit manifested by Brooks was representative of every member of the squad, and we can safely say that with that same kind of spirit next fall the Ohio Conference Championship is not beyond reach.

Summary of the Basketball Season

Acod Dook

Waland Row

W 1TH four veterans back Ohio's hopes were high for a successful basketball season. In the pre-season games with independent fives the team showed up well. Cincinnati was the first Conference foe to be met and downed. Ohio Weslevan gave Ohio her first defeat the following week in a closely fought game.

Marietta. a non-conference foe. was easily disposed of on the home floor. Miami, Ohio Northern, and Akron were met and defeated in turn. The team had swung into its stride and was playing a great game.

The team reached the top of its form in the Ohio Wesleyan game on the home court. Led by Wright the team swept the supposedly invincible Wesleyan off their feet. Wright was never better and dropped the ball through the net from all angles. Ohio was not to be denied, and Wesleyan never had a chance to win that night.

Ohio met Denison two nights later. the fourth game in six days. The strain of the preceding games was too much. and Ohio was unable to cope with the strong Denison team. Ohio's Championship hopes were shattered after a great start.

The team recovered sufficiently to trim Baldwin-Wallace the following week, but met a snag the next night at Oberlin. Ohio had plenty of shots at the basket but the team just couldn't hit. Marietta was taken over again in the river city in a close game. Ohio met the strong Kenyon team in two games on successive week-ends. The games were of unusual interest because of the intense rivalry between Van Epps of Kenyon and Wright of Ohio for high scorer of the conference. Ohio dropped both games by one point, but Wright outscored his rival by a wide margin.

Ohio came to life in the closing week of the season and defeated an Alumni team (composed of former stars). Hiram. and Wittenberg. The last game of the season at Wittenberg was a thriller and Ohio only won after a rally in the closing minutes.

In summing up the season it may be called a most successful season in spite of the five defeats received. The team was unfortunate in the schedule arrangement, and the loss of one of its best members in mid-season. Captain Bonner, a fine guard and a most capable leader, is the only man lost by graduation. With the rest of the squad back next year and a fine group of Freshmen to pick from, we are looking forward to next year with great expectations.

Captain 1924-25

C. E. BONNER, Captain, Guard

Charlie playing his third year on the varsity made an ideal captain, and was the outstanding defensive guard of the Conference. Team harmony never showed to better advantage than this season with Bonner at the helm. While always assigned the job of guarding the star performer of the opposition. Charlie usually held his man to a few points. His aggressive playing and leadership will be greatly missed next year.

Captain Elect 1925-26

C. L. WRIGHT, All-Ohio Forward

Playing the same outstanding offensive game, and vastly improved on the denfense, Wright for the second consecutive year was placed on the All-Ohio five. His uncanny ability to score from the field was a revelation to the fans. His outstanding feat of the season was against Ohio Wesleyan when, although closely guarded, he dropped in eleven goals and two free throws for a total of twenty-four points. Charlie's election to the captaincy for next year was a most popular move, for Wright is a great leader as well as a great player.

W. S. BLCKWITH, Forward

Bill playing his second year on the varsity was one of the best defensive men on the team. After a slow start Bill came fast and played a game the latter part of the season. He showed exceptional ability in the Kenyon and Wittenberg games.

W. J. MUIR, Center

Tall, rangy, fast, and a good shot Muir took care of the bat-off position in good shape in his first year of varsity competition. "Walt" after a fine start ran into a slump in mid-season, but regained his old form in the Kenyon game. Great things are expected of him in the next two years.

R. F. KING. Guard

Bob has played a steady dependable game for two seasons. Big and fast he has shown his worth not only on the defense, but also in scoring from the field. Ohio is fortunate in having his services for another year.

H. A. LESLIE, Forward

Hal made a place on the varsity right from the start. A fine pair of hands, speed, and a good shot made him a very valuable man. Hal plaved his greatest game in the Wesleyan contest. It was with regret that the fans saw this promising player leave school at the end of the first semester, but it is our hope that he will be able to be with us again next year.

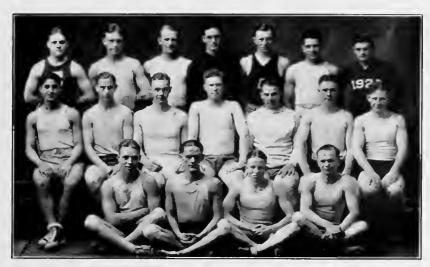

"Red" alternated at forward and guard positions during the season, and always put up a creditable game. Big, fast and a good long shot "Red" has fairly carned his letter. His work will be watched with interest next year.

G. H. EISENBREY, Forward

Eisenbrev in his first year of varsity competition proved himself a capable substitute for one of the regular forwards whenever called upon. Fast and with exceptional ability to handle the ball he should develop into a regular next season.

Track

By C. D. GIAGUE

TRACK and field athletics are in the process of development at Ohio and will soon hold an important place in university athletics. Such a prediction is warranted by the results accomplished by the forty or fifty men constituting the track squad that have been working out daily.

Wesleyan allowed the Ohio indoor team barely twenty points in the dual meet in Athens on February 27th. But one must consider that the Delaware team had just beaten Ohio State and is considered the best in the conference. The Ohio men profited a great deal in that meet and it gave the spring sport a tremendous impetus in spite of the overwhelming defeat. It is hoped that the Wesleyan indoor meet will be an annual affair.

Captain Maynard Graft. "Bill" Herbert, Clarence Hudson, and "Bill" Davis look like point winners in their events, and there are several others who should develop good form before the end of the season. Graft is running his last year, but the other two men are only sophomores and should be record breakers before they graduate.

"Thor" Olson has added the duties of freshman coach to his already overcrowded program and boasts some men who should help out the varsity squad next season.

The Track and pits at the field are being worked over and will be in first class shape for the first home meet. The indoor track in the gymnasium fifteen laps to the mile and eight and a half feet wide—is an excellent one for preliminary practice. The shot, high jump, and pole vault as well as the twenty-five yard dash and hurdles are contested on the floor.

Hudson's time of three and a fifth seconds in the twenty-five yard dash in the Wesleyan meet will be the first to be put down as an Ohio indoor record in the new men's gymnasium.

WITH only four lettermen as a nucleus to build on. Coach Peden deserves much praise for the team developed during the season of 1924. From a small squad of candidates a team was developed which dropped but two games, and one of those was a ten inning affair.

Bad weather held up outdoor practice, and it was with only a week of practice that the team met Denison in the Conference opener. Bruce, the standby of the season, pitched a strong game while his teammates hammered Miller off the rubber, collecting a total of seven runs while the "Big Red" were getting four.

The team journeyed to Otterbein the following week where Bruce pitched a shutout, and allowed only one hit. The team fielded perfectly, and scored four runs.

ENA

In a game filled with ragged fielding and the rain of base hits. Ohio downed Marietta in a loosely played game 17 to 14. Stephenson was on the mound for Ohio.

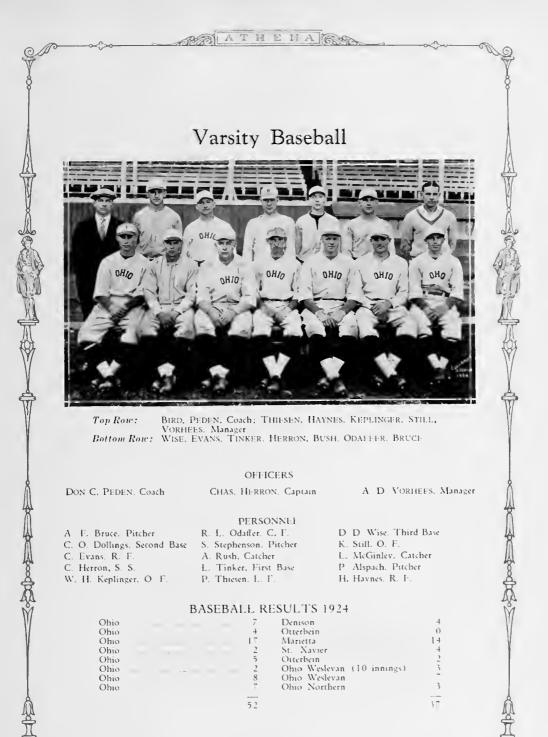

In the first of a series of two games to be played on a trip to the southern part of the state. St. Xavier nosed out the Green and White in a hotly contested game 4-2. Stephenson pitched a nice game, but was touched rather freely in the closing innings. The game the following day with Cincinnati was called off on account of rain, so the team spent the day enjoying Cincinnati.

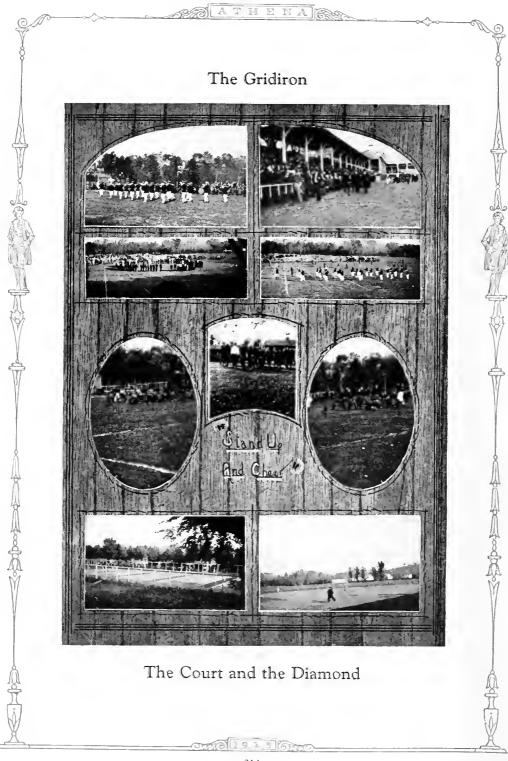

In a return game with Otterbein at Athens. Ohio batted her way to a 5 to 2 victory behind Bruce's good pitching. Tinker's big bat played an important part in the victory.

Ohio Northern was defeated 7-3 the following week in a game marked by the heavy batting of the entire Ohio nine. Bruce held the "Norsemen" in check throughout the game, while Ohio pounded the Northern hurler for seven runs.

On May 22. the team invaded Delaware to engage the strong Ohio Wesleyan team. Stephenson started on the mound for Ohio and pitched a beautiful game for eight innings, but weakened in the ninth. Bruce was rushed to the rescue, and held them safe for two innings, but an error permitted Wesleyan to win in the tenth. The feature of the game was a home run over the left field fence by Dollings, and the all-around play of the entire team.

In a return game on Decoration Day, Ohio nosed out Wesleyan in a rather loosely played game on Ohio Field. Bruce pitched for Ohio, but was hit hard and often. Two runs to the bad in the ninth. Ohio came to bat and pounded out three runs to win the game. It was a great finish to a most successful season.

THE word "Intramural" which, taken literally, means "within the walls," has become a familiar term in its relation with athletics. Intramural play exists in some form at every institution of higher learning throughout the country.

Intramural play and activity has existed in a form at Ohio University for some few years, but at the close of the past year the department has enjoyed its second year under an organization outlined specifically for Intramural Play.

The aim of the Intramural Department is to furnish needed exercise and recreation to every student in the University. "Every man in the game." is our slogan. It is said that "The man who never plays is a much a half man as the man who never works." and for the average red-blooded youth he cherishes that form of activity that enables him to put his strength against that of another boy. He has keener appreciation of the game if he has taken part in the conflict.

It is not the purpose in the development of the Intramural Department at Ohio University to get publicity and award loving cups to organizations. Its purpose is higher and far more reaching than that. It is to develop cooperation in competitive effort, to show the students how to acquire a respect for the spirit of the rules, rather than the letter, and to develop a sense of fairness in sport that will be adaptable to any profession in life.

Physical education is a broad term and at Ohio University it is meant to include every form of athletics by participation in which the student can add to his physical betterment. It includes four main groups of classes: 1. Inter-Collegiate Athletics: 2. Required Gymnasium Work: 3. Intramural Athletics: and 4. Major Course in Physical Education.

The Intramural calendar for a year of participation includes the following activities, and many other sports that are added from time to time, which the department deems necessary and worthy of support.

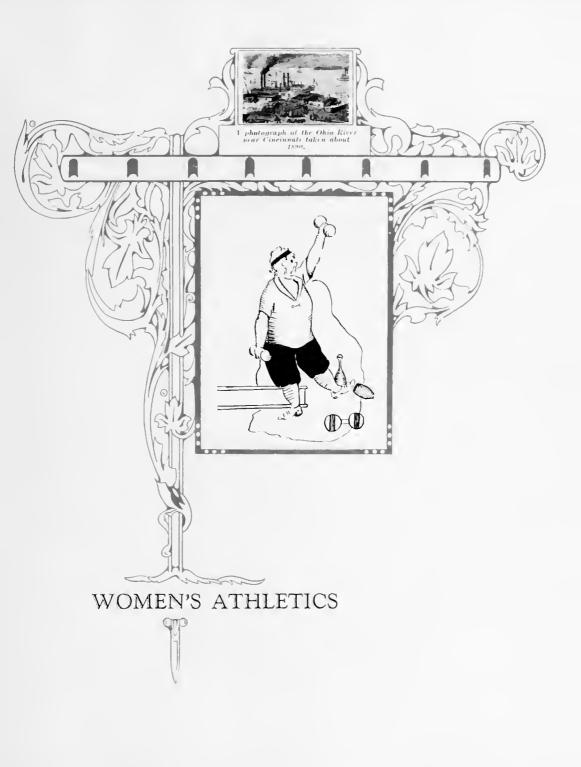

Fall—Soccer, Indoor Baseball, Cross Country, Basketball, Volley Ball, Winter—Foul Shooting Contest, Basketball, Wrestling, Indoor Track, Spring-Baseball, Tennis, Playground Ball, Horseshoe Pitching, Outdoor Track.

The playing facilities at present are inadequate to accommodate all men playing Intramural Athletics, but the department is looking forward to the time when they will have fields and floors enough to alleviate this crowded condition. The facilities for Intramural Sports are as follows: Soccer, two fields; Playground Ball, two outdoor courts, and two indoor courts; Tennis, ten courts; Volley Ball, four courts; Wrestling, Varsity mat room; Track, half mile outdoor track, indoor track, 12 laps to a mile; Basketball, four courts; Baseball, three diamonds; Indoor Baseball, two courts.

During the past year in supporting thirteen events the department enjoyed the biggest year in Intramural Play that the University has ever had. More interest was shown than before. A keener sense for the rights of others, and a fairness of play was evident thruout the year. The high spots of the program during the year were the basketball league. Indoor and outdoor track meets. The basketball league was very evenly divided, and the winner in doubt until the last games were played. League champions were decided with Lambda Chi Alpha winning in the National Class A, Sigma Pi winning in the American Class A. A total of fifty teams competed in six different leagues with approximately four hundred men competing.

The department is looking forward to the next few years, at which time they hope to have every man in the University competing in some form of Intramural Activity every month during the college year. They believe if they are able to accomplish this end they will have fulfilled their biggest purpose in the department of Physical Education.

Women's Physical Education Department

MISS RUTH SAVAGE Director

THE Women's Physical Education Department aims to provide recreation for every girl in the college. It has been found that interclass athletics satisfy this need to a much greater extent than one varsity team in intercollegiate athletics. The department endeavors to give the girl activities which she can follow outside of school as well as in school. With a knewledge of tennis, hiking, and swimming, a girl is assured of exercise through life. One year of physical education work is required of every girl. Those not physically able to take part in these classes are benefited by work in the corrective classes. The women's department is fundamentally trying to uphold and raise the sense of sportsmanship and democracy among all women of the campus.

Two live organizations sponsored by the department are: the Women's Athletic Association and the Women's Physical Education Club. The Women's Athletic Association encourages participation in fall, winter and spring sports, and swimming and hiking throughout the year. The physical education club is for women interested in and taking the four-year course in physical education which fits them to fill grade, high school and college positions, and to lead in playground. Y. W. C. A. and industrial recreation.

The faculty has increased in number and efficiency with Miss Ruth Savage, head of the department. Miss Edith Carson and Miss Harriet Rogers, able assistants. All have had extensive experience in and out of college in many phases of physical education.

THE Women's Athletic Association was organized only two years ago. It grew out of the idea that Ohio University Women should have better individual physical training. With that the desire for inter-class sports arose and consequently each season sees several teams competing in various sports such as Tennis. Hockey, Basketball, Volley Ball Soccer and Baseball.

Every Ohio University girl is an associate member of the W, A. A. To become an active member, one hundred points must be gained. This can be done in one season by plaving on one team of any sport. The W A. A, has developed a democratic spirit and has sponsored enthusiasm and pep among the girls. Since it is in its infancy it has much to look forward to in the future.

ET it rain or snow, who cares? Basketball goes right on in spite of the weather Basketball is perhaps the most popular sport among the girls on the campus. Weeks of technical practice and then a week when teams are chosen and everybody knows they didn't make the team. But some always do. After that training and practice with emphasis on team play. Then the Inter-class series begins.

Three teams competed in the series, representing the Junior, Sophomore, and the Freshman classes. The teams met each other twice during the season and at the end the scores showed that the Freshmen were in possession of the coveted championship, with the Sophomores and Juniors tied for second place. The standing is as follows

	P.	W.	L.	Perc.
Freshmen	4	4	0	1.000
Juniors	4	1	3	.250
Sophomores _	+	1	3	250

The fall season ended this year after the inter-class series in games with the Freshman team as the champions in Hockey. In Soccer the competition was between three mixed groups with two of them tieing for first place. The contestants in Archery, which was a new sport on the campus for the first time this fall, were working up to become crack shots in the spring inter-class contest.

"Don't strike at a high one." That's just what the batter did and she heard "Strike three. The batter is out." Baseball is a big sport in the spring with competition keen among the classes.

"On your mark, get set, Bang" and the girls are away in a flying start. Track offers a carrying out of the old maxim. "Variety is the spice of life" for there is—the discus, hurdling, shot put, javelin, sprinting, and jumping—all of which take much practice in order to develop speed, form and skill, enough to allow the contestant to enter the annual track meet.

Tennis requires more than good form. It requires skill and a scientific knowledge of the game. Almost any afternoon you'll find the courts overcrowded with many girls playing off their match in the tournament to find the most skillful "co-ed" in the University.

Trying to hit the bull's eye isn't as easy as it looks. Come out and see for yourself how proficient you are in Archery and at the same time learn what it means to be a good sportsman and what it is to have a good time.

SWIMMERS READY: GO!

The Freshmen finished first in the first Inter-class Swimming Meet for girls ever held at Ohio University. Yes. the "Frosh" won the meet, but four of the five individual high point winners were Juniors.

All women of the University who will practice the required number of periods are eligible for teams, a team from each class competing in the meet. The meet is governed by the rules drawn up by the National Committee on Women's Athletics of the A. P. E. A. which standardizes this meet with those held in other schools.

Besides the meet, classes are conducted throughout the year in swimming, diving, and advanced life saving as a part of the regular Physical Education gymnasium work.

Did you know that tennis-a sport which is extremely popular with the girls on the campus-is a game that requires more than a knowledge of the game itself? It takes in knowledge of physics and physiology as well. This with constant practice makes a lively inter class tournament possible every spring among the four University classes. The winners of this tournament in 1924 were:

Juniors-Margaret Bewley Sophomores-Mary Ellen Moore Freshmen-Mary Ross

Mary Ross after meeting the other class champions and Elizabeth Seither who was runner-up from the previous year became the champion of the University.

Activities

T HE Men's Union of Obio University was organized three years ago to fulfill the existing need of student government and jurisdiction in all matters of student relations and activities. It has accomplished the unification of the entire male registration of Obio into one functioning body directing and governing all activities.

The most outstanding event in the bistory of the organization was the purchase of the Men's Union Building on Union Street by the University Trustees. This building has been completely turned over to the men under the control of the Union through its officers. At present the building houses the executive offices of the Union. The Green and White. The Athena. The O. U. Broadcasting Service and Torch while the auditorium is used for many student activities including the band, glee club, college orchestra and a diversified list of student meetings. The spacious ballroom is the scent of the majority of campus social functions and the reading and recreation rooms are in constant use.

The officers are chosen from the upperclasses at the regular elections in May and serve for the term of one year. By consent of the Women's League the president

THE Campus Activities Advisory Board consists of the Dean of the Liberal Arts College, four members of the Faculty, and five student members, chosen at the regular elections, three of whom must be Seniors, and two Juniors.

This Board has the supervision of all student activities, with the exceptions of athletics, campus publications, and the Y.M.C.A. Feeling the need of recognition for high scholastic attainment, both in individuals and organizations, this Board instituted, and awards each semester, the Individual Scholarship Medal and the Scholarship Cup to the highest ranking organization on our campus.

This year the annual Freshman Smoker was arranged by this Board: all the yearlings were there and were amply rewarded by a talk from President Bryan and their fill in cider and doughnuts. The Board worked with the Alumni Secretary in staging the barbecue and bonfire at the Home-coming game, and supervised the thuse meetings and publicity work during the football season. Due to the numerous opportunities afforded by other organizations this year, no dances were sponsored by the Board as formerly.

Some of the typical rules that the Board is called upon to enforce are:—the wearing of the green cap, no smoking on the campus, no wearing of high-school insignia and no loitering on the corner of Court and President streets. Some of the class activities between the Sophomores and Freshmen that the Senior-Junior Governing Board oversees are the Sack-Rush which usually occurs in the fall, and the Tug-of-War which takes place in the spring.

The Senior-Junior board also is empowered to take complete charge of the class elections for the Freshman. Sophomore, and Junior classes which are held in the fall.

THE Women's League of Ohio University was established in October, 1913.

The purpose of the League is to unite all women in a sense of unity, tellowship and loyalty toward one another and toward all Ohio University women, to promote and maintain high social and moral standards, and to work in all ways in the interests of student life.

The League carries on its business by means of an Advisory Board. This board is composed of the four officers, the social chairman, the Dean of Women, and three members chosen from each class.

This organization sponsors a loan fund, a scholarship fund, social activities including a Hallowe'en" party, a 'Costume' party in February, a 'Kid" party in April, the Skit show and contributes to the Constantinople fund. This year it has furnished a club room in Cutler Hall to which any girl in the University is welcome. This room has also been supplied with the best available magazines.

The purpose of the Commission is to promote a fine spirit among the Freshman women and to stimulate, through personal relationship and example, the interest of individual girls in the best features of college life.

A Lood RV

At the beginning of the school year the Freshman women are divided into geographical groups containing from twelve to twenty-five members. These groups are organized by Sophomore Council girls who were the Freshman Commission members the year before. After a few weeks, a Freshman girl is elected from each group by the Sophomore Council and Freshman Commission Advisory Board to Freshman Commission as a representative of that group.

The Student Pastorate

ENAM

A PIONEER WORK

That the religious life of students can be satisfied most naturally by the Church, has in recent years been a growing conviction of religious workers. Hence, the presence of the student pastor, representative of some religious body on the campuses of our State Universities. But, a further need has been felt and met. Denominations must cooperate on a single campus if duplication is to be avoided and the students prepared to perform the cooperative tasks of the Church. The Inter-Church Pastorate, unique but no longer experimental, has resulted. According to this plan several denominations secure and finance as their official representative one man trained for this type of work. Ohio University is one of twelve great universities to develop such a plan.

A UNITED APPROACH

Mr. Ludwig. the Interchurch Student Pastor at Ohio University, is the official representative of five cooperating denominations: Methodist Episcopal. Presbyterian. Disciples of Christ, Baptist and Episcopalian. The ministers of these Athens churches, together with one lay-member and representatives of the campus Christian Associations, comprise the local Board of Directors. Behind this board are the general Boards of Education of the several denominations. Alumni, parents of students, faculty, and friends aid with interest and money in this united approach to a common task."

"Serving All the Students and the Whole Religious Life."

This is the aim of the Student Pastorate. Specifically, its objectives are: (1) to lead students to loyal and active devotion to the person and program of Jesus Christ; (2) to bring all students into vital touch with the church life of the city so that the needs for worship may be satisfied and practical training in Christian thought and expression secured; (3) to encourage all wholesome activities of the campus through which the best university life and spirit may be fostered.

The Student Pastorate is in the fullest sense a co-operation with and among the students. Little is handed down from above. Policies are suggested, criticized, adopted by, and amended by the students themselves. The Student Pastor is their co-worker. Among the student groups with which he cooperates are the Inter-church Student Council, the Y.M.C.A., the Wartburg Club, the Life Service Group, and the All Ohio Fellowship. Bible classes, young people's societies, social life in the Churches, discussion groups in fraternity houses and on the campus, are the principle activities of these groups.

THE SCHOOL OF RELIGION

While not an organic part of the University, the School of Religion is welcomed by the University which allows general elective credit for the courses taken. Courses have been offered in the Philosophy of Religion. Psychology of Religion. Religious Education. Literature of the Bible, History and Religion of the Old and New Tesligion of the Old and New Testament, and Introduction to the Study of Religion. (A total of 200 students have enrolled for such courses.)

The Lecture Foundation of the School of Religion during the last three years has presented to the student body as special lecturers six outstanding religious leaders of the country.

The work of the Association extends into various fields, giving the girls opporrunities for volunteer work in story and play hours with children in Athens and the neighboring mining communities, in the Girl Scout movement, in calling on shut-in ladies, and in other departments of the Association such as finance, legislative meetings, publicity, world-fellowship and social. The Eriday night meetings also offer a field for thought and activity

This year two new fields have been organized. One is the establishing of a legislative committee, and the other, co-operation with the Woman's League in the Skit Show as a means of making up part of the $2100 budget on which the Association works.

T HE Y.W.C.A. Sub-Cabinet was organized in the fall of 1921. It is composed of the sub-chairman of the various departments of Y. W. C. A. of which the regular cabinet members are chairman and over which the Vice-President of the Association presides. The other officers are chosen from members of the Sub-Cabinet.

Because the girls of the Sub-Cabinet share the duties, obligations and jovs of the major group, their organization and work is not greatly unlike that of the Cabinet. This not only helps to carry the responsibility of each chairman, but forms a splendid background of training for the girls who may be chosen for the next year's cabinet. ğ

The Sub-Cabinet has no formal outline for its activity but stands ready to answer any call that may arise.

Some calls that have arisen are: Membership Campaign which takes place at the beginning of the fall term, the various Christmas festivities, as. Poor Kiddies Party, Christmas Carols, Programs in Mining Communities and the Annual Y.W.C.A Banquet in March.

"HE Wartburg Club came into existence in the autumn of 1919 through the interest ¹ and direction of Dr C. 1. Martzolff. The organization is now a member of the Lutheran Student Association of America: the need for such an organization being felt because there is no Lutheran church in Athens.

Any Lutheran student on the campus of Ohio University automatically becomes a member of the Club. The Club affords a means whereby Lutheran students become acquainted with each other, consider and act upon their common problems, and strengthen and encourage each other in Christian Faith and lovalty to the Church

A council of seven selected from the group is responsible for the general management. Meetings are held semi-monthly, usually on Sunday evening. The group has been fortunate in securing ministers from various congregations to speak to them - Interesting and profitable discussions resulted from these visits. The hikes, weiner roasts and parties given by the Club have been greatly enjoyed by the members.

The Athena of 1925

THE aim of a college annual should be to adequately and completely portray the various activities and interests of the University during the college year. To this end the staff of The Athena of 1925 has striven in assembling the numerous pictures, copy, and by the addition of several new sections such as: Traditions, Memorials, Debate, and True Ohioans.

This annual is not the result of the efforts of one individual, but the result of co-operative efforts of many. By means of unselfish devotion and the sacrificing of personal interest the task has been accomplished,—a monumental task in itself. However great the task, we trust that the efforts put forth have been worthwhile and that every student may say, "I am proud of the Athena of 1925."

The Editor's task would not be complete if he were to forget a few words of appreciation and commendation for the efforts of those who contributed so heartily toward the compilation of this annual.

Particular thanks are due to James R. Quirk for his time so cordially given in the judging of the Silver Mirror Contest.

Willood X

Especial recognition is due Neville Smith, art editor, for his active direction in the prepartion of the drawings for the Section pages; for the views in the Senior Section; for the drawings used in making up the Contest pages; and above all for the Opening page drawings of this volume. Much credit is due the following contributors whose articles appear in this annual, namely: Alva G. Hatch, Margaret Robison, and Andrew Smithberger. To the entire staff and all those that have helped, the editor desires to express his thanks and appreciation.

The general theme of this annual—"The History of the State of Ohio"—seems most appropriate at this time as this year marks an anniversary in many respects. Foremost of these may be mentioned the 110th anniversary of the graduation of the first student from Ohio. The general theme, as previously mentioned, has been incorporated in each section page by means of historical illustrations arranged in chronological order from the beginning to the end of the volume.

THE GREEN AND WHITE is the official weekly student publication at Ohio University It attempts to portray truthfully the events which take place on the campus.

The paper reached its present form in 1914, having heretofore been published in the form of a magazine. This year marked a new epoch in its growth when the size of the page was increased to seven columns and two inches in length. The regular six page issue has been maintained, throughout the year.

PRIZE WINNERS 1925 INTERCOLLEGIATE GLEE CLUB CONTEST

UNDER the direction of Prof. C. C. Robinson the Men's Glee Club has this year established an even better name for itself in state and national musical circles than it previously had. As the winner of first honors for the second time in the Ohio Intercollegiate Contest the attention and admiration of the entire student body and the public has been gained. The club appears annually in a formal concert at Athens, and has been presented at a number of towns and cities throughout the state where it has invariably been greeted with the greatest enthusiasm.

Varsity Male Quartette

T HE Varsity Male Quartette is composed of the best male voices on the campus. It is absolutely necessary for the men who belong to the Varsity Quartette to also be members of the Men's Glee Club. The Quartette forms an integral part of the Glee Club and it is a special mark of distinction to be a member of it. The men are chosen only after a series of eliminations, which are conducted by Prof. C. C. Robinson, Director of the School of Music.

The function of the Varsity Male Quartette is to provide the humorous side of the Glee Club concerts. While the Quartette has some heavier selections, their duty is essentially to provide the entertainment of the program.

The quartette, by appearing at various high school commencement exercises, university alumni association meetings. Kiwanis luncheons, etc., forms an important factor in the publicity work done by Ohio University.

The personnel of the Varsity Male Quartette is composed of Albert Lewis, tenor: Theodore Michael, tenor. Wavne Jackson baritone: and Dewey Goddard, Bass. Lewis and Goddard are seniors and will graduate this year. Jackson is the only man who has ever made the quartette in the freshman year.

T HE University Band has been a more or less permanent group on the campus. Its existence has not been continuous, but periodically the organization has been rejuvenated. The band has now functioned since 1918 when it was reorganized by Jesse Davis, local band veteran. Under the direction of Mr. Davis and Mr. Raymond Connett, the present director, the band has made splendid progress until at present it is one of the strongest musical units on the campus. It has furnished music for all the athletic events and has injected a great amount of spirit into the student life. The band has also presented a classical concert sponsored by the School of Music.

Chase's Collegians is the name of the popular university orchestra that has furnished the music for college dances and hops during the past four years at Ohio University. The organization, composed of university students, have had a reputation that is exceptional for a college band. Playing engagements on week ends and vacation periods in the states of Ohio. Pennsylvania, West Virginia. Kentucky, and Indiana, this group of musicians have done much to bring the name of the Ohio University before the public in a favorable and commendable manner. This is the last year on the campus for the orchestra as some of them will graduate and the rest will leave for professional schools.

N epock making event of the college year has been the successful effort in launching the enlarged course of music numbers under the auspices of the University. Together with such outstanding attractions as Sousa's Band. the Cincinnati Orchestra, Cortot, Gravure, Hubermann and other artists of international fame, the students were afforded the opportunity to hear such men of affairs as Glenn Frank. Mark Sullivan and Tom Skeyhill

No less imposing is the group selected for next vear which includes the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra. Anna Case, Soprano, Pablo Casals, 'cellist, Harold Bauer and Ossip Gabrilowitsch in a two-piano recital, and as one of the speakers, Steffanson, the explorer. Other numbers will be added to complete the course for 1925-'26.

Debating at -

Team One

D EBATING at Ohio University has had a long and significant history. extending over more than a century. When both the state and university were then young, there were even two literary societies that were interested enough in practical discussion to have regular informal debates as part of their program, and in the succeeding years the intercollegiate debates have done much to aid the students in formulating their thinking on the great social and political questions of the time.

Realizing the amazing and numerous advantages of debating the University has this year six teams actively at work to represent it in forensic discussion. It is the aim of those in charge of debating to give as ample opportunity as possible to those desirous of attaining excellence in argumentative expression and to lend aid and encouragement to the leaders themselves.

Propositions for debate are chosen very carefully, with a view to selecting the most pertinent and contemporary problems. This year there were two main topics. One, debated with Miami, Cincinnati, Denison, and Marietta, was: "Resolved. That Ohio should ratify the federal constitutional child labor amendment." The other. "Resolved. That the United States and Canada should jointly costruct the St. Lawrence Deep Sea Waterway." was debated with Hillsdale College, Michigan. Interest in the former debates was intensified because the Ohio legislature had already rejected the child labor amendment.

Innovations have been begun by Professor W. H. Cooper. Head of the Department of Public Speaking and Coach of Debate. A year ago a debate council was established, consisting of Dr. W. C. Harris, of the Department of History, Dr. L. E. Crossman, of the Department of Economics, and of Professor Raymer Mc-Quiston, of the Department of English, to assist the debaters in the preparation and presentation of their arguments. This council has functioned very satisfactorily. This year the plan of having a single judge, in the person of an able director of debating at a well-known university, has been used.

Tau Kappa Alpha, national honorary debate and oratory fraternity, has an active chapter connected with the Department of Public Speaking.

Such institutions as Allegheny College. University of Cincinnati, Denison University, Marietta College. Miami University. Washington and Jefferson College. Ohio Wesleyan University. and the College of Wooster have been the opponents of Ohio University in debate within recent years.

G REAT accomplishments arise from desires to learn—thus the Art Club of Ohio University was organized at the beginning of the college year. September, 1912, for the purpose of studying art history; at which time students from the Liberal Arts college as well as those specializing in Art in the educational college were eligible. Thus throughout the years the Art Club has studied artists of renown, art history and the modern tendencies in Art. During the first few years lectures and illustrated talks were given by Miss Louise Stahl and Miss Mary J. Brison.

This year the work was conducted by the Special Art students and teachers, studying Modern Architecture, illustrators and painters.

The regular meetings of the club are held the last Tuesday in the month. During the first semester a party for the beginning Special Art students is sponsored. The last activity of the year is an informal dance.

T HP Obio University Biology Club consists of the faculty of the department of biology and those students who have shown sufficient knowledge of biological subjects and interest in this science to make themselves eligible for membership

The purpose of the club is to foster interest in the marvelous facts of biology, to bring to the students a realization of the scope of the subject, with its many divisions and ramifications, to foster a desire for knowledge of the big problems in biology, and a desire for inquiry into the unknown forces and processes of the living world

Familiarity of the current biological literature and appreciation of the importance and significance of original research are impressed upon the students. Papers are read and discussed by the club on subjects of theoretical and practical nature.

The club is academic in nature and it is a mark of merit to students in the biology department

THE Chemical Society was first organized in 1910. Active interest was shown in the organization, and much benefit derived from it until war conditions, in 1918, caused its activities to be temporarily abandoned. The steadily increasing importance of industrial chemistry since the World War has caused an urgent need to be felt for such an organization by Chemistry students to meet these needs it was reorganized this year.

The Chemical Society is purely a student organization insofar as active membership is concerned; the faculty of the department comprising the advisory hoard

The purpose of the organization is to stimulate interest and to encourage research in Chemistry among those students whose chief interest lies in this field of science. This is accomplished by a systematic discussion, at each meeting, of present day problems in theoretical and practical chemistry; the subject for discussion being presented in a carefully prepared paper, read by one of the members. Current topics of passing interest are also brought before the Society but in less detail

HIO University Classical Club is in the sixth year of its activities as a part of campus life. Its membership consists of those students of the Classical Languages who have felt it desirable to have this closer contact with the fountainhead of modern literature and general culture. Meetings are in a large measure informal and to each regular program is added some social touch, which is itself usually built around things classical. The programs of the meetings are varied to include a wide range of acquaintances.

The Club is often instrumental in bringing to Athens some scholar of wide renown in the Classical world. This year Professor Louis E. Lord. who had just returned to Oberlin College from Italy where he had been Annual Professor at the American School of Classical Studies at Rome, came under the auspices of the Club and the faculty of the department of Classical Languages. His lecture, on Roman Palaces and Villas of the Renaissance period, was given in the dining room of the Hotel Berry and was enjoyed by members of the Club and invited guests.

THE Cosmopolitan Club of Ohio University was orzanized in the early part of December 1924 by Miss Hilda Asadian with President Bryan's approval. The membership is heterogeneous including students from other countries as well as Americans. The club motto is "That Brotherhood May Prevail." This is furthermore, a democratic institution having as its only basis of admittance individuals who are interested in the ideals of the club.

The national suppers and lectures on different countries have been prominent features of the meetings. American. Armenian, Chinese suppers have been served and others are to follow. Dr. Smith of the History Department has addressed the club on "The Far East," Miss Asadian on "That Brotherhood May Prevail" and "The Sociological and Religious History of Armenia." Messrs. Samuel Hoy and J. Fu Yang on "The Educational Problems of China." Miss Noss on "French Culture." and Miss Warner on "Raising Standards of Humanity, An International Problem." A most impressive programme was given in memory of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.

F the departmental student-faculty organizations on the campus the oldest is the English Club. This club was formed for the purpose of unearthing and developing the creative literary talent and genus of the university—in other words, of helping to produce the future Robert Frosts. Willa Cathers, and Eugene O'Neills of the country. With this end in view, each student member of the club—and almost every faculty member—is required to read at least one poem short story, or play during the year.

The club meets at the home of Dean and Mrs. Chubb on the first Tuesday evening of each month. A typical program consists of the reading of two or three original productions, followed by general discussion and criticism. The last meeting of the year is known as Guest Night, on this occasion every member is permitted to bring a friend.

The goal of the English Club is, of course to give Ohio University an American literary preeminence comparable to the British literary pre-eminence which Cambridge University has maintained for centuries

THE French Club was installed at Obio University in 1914 under the name of 'Le Cercle francais'' which was later changed to 'T'Alliance francais''.

Its purpose has been to furnish students of French with an opportunity to become familiar with the ideals and customs of France and to gain experience in the use of the language by attending monthly meetings where it is spoken exclusively.

Plays from outstanding French dramatists are presented annually. "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme", by Moliere, was selected by the club for performance this year. Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme is considered the best of the numerous plays written by Moliere. Under the direction of Mary T. Noss the play was remarkably well presented to the large audience. On the opposite page three striking scenes are shown taken from the local presentation. Following the custom established last year of exchanging plays with Ohio State University, a second performance of the play was given in Columbus.

On May 13th in Ewing Hall the French Club of the Ohio State University presented a modern drama, "Le Monde ou l'on s'ennuie" by Pailleron This play was written near the close of the nineteen century. The general plot of the play is a 'take off' on the snobbish well-to-do people. It is one of Pailleron's best works.

The French Club has been called ""I'Alliance francaise" since 1922 when it became affiliated with the Federation of French Alliances in the United States and Canada. It is an association of clubs, societies, and groups founded in 1902 for the purpose of encouraging and furthering the study and cultivation of the language, literature, art and history of France. The organization includes about 114 French Clubs organized in universities, colleges and schools

It brings over from France every year, as official lecturers, one or more eminent men of letters who are prepared to speak before all the affiliated societies and clubs wishing to hear them

This year M. Louis Reau professor of the history of sculpture at the Loole du Louvre was the lecturer appeiring in Athens. He spoke on "Art Relations between France and the United States".

Lecture tours are organized for distinguished French travelers and French lecturers who live in America. A monthly bulletin is published which acquaints the several groups in affiliated clubs with the work of the Federation Groups are encouraged to engage in dramatic productions and debates in French and to grant scholarships and medals in schools and colleges. It also aids the groups in preparing their meetings and entertainments.

One of the big events of the past year for the Ohio University French Club was the annual Mardi Gras Banquet. This affair was held on the Sunday before Lent (March 31st). Watson Ladd, the president, acted as toastmaster. A reunion of the club in Paris in 1940 provided material for many interesting and entertaining toasts. This banquet at the Colonial has been made an annual occasion and is looked forward to by all members of the club.

Preparations are now being made for the presentation of the 'Farce de Maitre Patelin'. This is one of the outstanding of the French farces that has been handed down from the Middle Ages.

The club recently sponsored the showing, locally, of the motion picture of Rafael Sabatini's "Scaramouche". The returns will aid materially in the club's work.

T HE Folk Lore Club made its appearance on the Ohio University campus in November of 1923 in the department of English through the efforts of Miss Mary E. Kahler. This club is open to students of English and to others whom the club considers to be in sympathy with the object of the organization.

The aim of the club is the enlarging of the fund of general knowledge in the field of Folk-Lore and of cultivating a deeper appreciation of literature. Meetings are held the first and third Thursdays of the month. Membership, not to exceed twenty-five is elected from the undergraduate body of women students.

The work of the club this year consisted in a special study of the customs and folk-lore of Germany. England, Greece, Holland, and early America: traditions and myths surrounding Christmas. Valentine's Day, Easter, and May Day. Impromptu dramatizations have been special features. A social hour, following the program, tends to create an atmosphere of congeniality.

T HE Home Economics Club of Ohio University was organized in 1918. Membership in this organization is based on the scholastic standing of the students in Home Economics.

There is an average membership of forty-five in the club. The organization has for its purposes, the development of a spirit of understanding and friendship among its members, the promotion and strengthening of interests in the Home Economics Department of Ohio University, and a study of various phases of Home Economics work and its leaders.

The meetings of the club are held once each month. At these meetings problems of national as well as of local importance are brought before the group. The various phases of these problems, as applied to Home Economies are discussed. The club sponsors several social functions during the year.

The Ohio University Home Economics Club is a member of the Ohio Home Economics Association and through this state organization is affiliated with the National Home Economics Association.

I F the eleven people who formed the Kindergarten Club on October 28, 1910, could come back now, and see the results of their labor, they certainly would be most agreeably surprised. The club, with its present enrollment of seventy-five, students in the Kindergarten-Primary Department in the College of Education, is progressing with the times.

Monthly meetings are held in which the club discusses various problems, particularly those pertaining to children of the kindergarten age. It was the great fortune of the club to obtain the presence of Mrs. Simeon Bing, a resident of Athens, and a woman prominent in the political life of the State. Through her interest, the club played an active part in the legislative battle of the Child Labor question.

The freshman girls in the course automatically become members of the club the second semester of the school year, and it is hoped they will enjoy the opportunities the club offers in the way of personal experience, teaching problems, and social contacts that have been so prominent in the programme this year.

HE Melting Pot was organized in November of 1922, largely through the efforts of Professor C. E. Cooper, head of the Department of Geography and Geology,

The purpose of the club is to bring together those students who are especially interested in the field of geography; to promote a sympathetic understanding of the problems of foreign nations, and to stimulate as well as create a deeper interest in our national questions of a geographic nature.

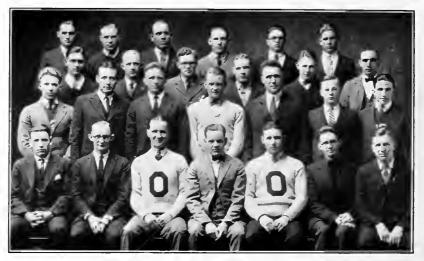

The only requirement for membership in the club is that of an honest interest in the field of geography. The evidence of such interest is manifest by the fact that the roll totals seventy-five members.

The meetings of the current year have been of unusual interest. They have been addressed by either members of the faculty who have had travel experience or by speakers from off the campus China, Italy. The Philippines, and the City of Duluth have been discussed by various speakers.

N the fall of 1924 the Physical Education Club was organized for the purpose of promoting an active interest in the field of physical education. By virtue of its personnel, this organization has been in a position to make a strong appeal and a noticeable effect upon our campus activities. The purpose of the fraternity is to secure close association among its members, to promote the study of business in Ohio University, to encourage scholastic endeavor, and to foster more intimate relations between its members and the commercial world.

Rising out of several previous attempts to establish a similar fraternity, Pi Gamma Epsilon was firmly founded in 1923 with 6 charter members. The organization this year numbers 25 active members.

The rapid advancement made by the School of Commerce during the past few years has created a need for the organization and has given it a strong foundation, and due to the place that the School of Commerce has attained in the State, a charter of a national organization seems assured in the near future.

The management of the Broadcasting Service and athletic publicity is taken care of by members of the club. The Broadcasting Service furnishes news and personal items about the faculty and students to various newspapers. Athletic news is sent to many of the larger city dailies throughout the Middle West. The club has taken over the management of the "Green Goat." the campus humorous publication, which had appeared previously and successfully on the campus.

Professor George S. Lasher, Head of the Department of Journalism, and Professor Raymond M. Slutz, of the Department of English, are the faculty members of the Press Club.

FOUNDED January 9th. 1923 by Dr Porter Head of the Department of Psychology, the leading purpose of the Psychology Club is to keep those interested in the achievements of modern psychology in as close contact as possible with the advancements being made in the field. Thus it is in a small measure a sort of clearing house for the most interesting and valuable pieces of contemporary research in the various branches of psychological science.

The Club aims, too, to encourage research among the advanced students. Once or twice a year the Club is addressed by men and women eminent in psychology or the closely allied sciences.

It has become the policy of the officers to stress more and more the practical aspects of the various researches reported from time to time, insofar as these affect the educational, business, and industrial world. Effort is made to clear the discussions of ultra technicality and complicated statistical expressions, with the purpose of enabling visitors not thoroughly versed in psychology as an exact science to enjoy and profit by them. Frequently the results of researches conducted by advanced students in the Department are made the source of comment

T HE Rural Club of Ohio University was organized in April, 1922 by Dr. S. K. Mardis. The purpose of the club is to bring together those students who are interested in the problems of rural life, and in the welfare of rural people. A vital interest in those projects which will make for betterment of rural conditions is the only requirement for membership.

The programs of the club have been worth while not only to rural students but to all of those who are interested in making life better in any part of the nation, for after all the problems of life in the country are much the same as problems of life in any place.

The education and welfare of children, particularly those in the rural districts, have been the underlying theme of all the lectures to the club. Many of the talks were made especially interesting by the use of stereopticon slides.

The social side of club activity has been stressed this year, for by mingling together and exchanging ideas we come to a broader realization of the problems which are upper-most in the minds of those who are thinking about how to better present conditions.

HE Science Club, formerly called "The Scientific Society," is one of the oldest departmental organizations on the campus. Organized in October, 1902, its membership was first composed of the faculty members and three student members from the departments of Biology, Chemistry, Mathematics, Physics, and Psychology and Paidology. Later the Departments of Civil Engineering. Civic Biology and Botany, and Agriculture were included in the membership. At present, the Club consists of about fifty members

WW add

Meetings of the club are held monthly. Each program consists of a major and a minor paper, the former being given by an instructor of one department and the latter by an assistant or student member of another department. In addition to the two papers, current events in the scientific world are presented by three student members.

For recommendation to membership in the Science Club a student must show unusual ability and keen interest in the particular work of the department from which he is elected.

The Club is composed of the faculty members of the departments of History and Government. Philosophy and Ethics. Economics and Sociology, together with the two or three students chosen from each of these departments. The students so chosen must be upper-classmen who have maintained a high grade of work and have shown marked interest in the field. During the present year several notable speakers have been sponsored by the organization among whom have been Dr. W. T. Morgan, of Indiana University, and Dr. Albert Bushnell Hart, of Harvard University.

Political issues in America and in Great Britain, political influences in our national court decisions, problems of world peace, and a symposium on the relation of the Social Sciences to Education are some of the topics which have received considerable attention from the Club.

HIO Square of the Fraternity of Square and Compass is the successor of the Masonic Club, which had existed on the Campus of Ohio University for several years.

Late in 1923 twelve students who were Masons held a meeting to decide on a plan of action whereby fraternalism among the Masons of Ohio University might be increased. It was believed that affiliation with Square and Compass would best accomplish the desired results. With that aim in view, the twelve students organized the local fraternity of Tau Mu Phi, drew up a constitution, and sent to the General Council of Square and Compass a petition for the establishment of a Square at Ohio University.

In March, 1924, the petition of Tau Mu Phi was granted by Square and Compass: and, on the 16th day of April, 1924, Mr. Ralph S. Roberts, National President of the Fraternity, and Mr. William Holsinger, President of Akron (Ohio) Square, formally conducted the instituting ceremony.

THE Woman's Physical Education Club was founded September. 1924 It is composed of women majoring and minoring in the four years Physical Education Course, and others, a select few whose keen interest in this field secured their election to membership.

The club endeavors to further the cause of Physical Education by keeping its members in touch with the progress and problems of Physical Education throughout the world. It seeks to arouse deep interest in the profession by co-operation between the girls and the instructors and between the various classes. The club has unified those in the department by knitting the girls under a common interest and into a close friendship.

Several of the meetings have been held jointly with the Men's Physical Education Club to share lectures and open discussions in connection with closely related studies, as medicine and psychology.

ACT I SCENE 6

Time: enough Place: kick

(Curtain rises disclosing straw breaking camel's back. In the distance, Romeo is hastening to the aid of Marco Polus, the camel driver, who is seated nearby, weeping copiously.)

Romeo (painfully)-Layfette, are we here?

Polus (pitifully)-Not all here, by any means.

The two join hands and do a colonial dance to the footlights, where they sing triumphantly-

When the early worm is wailing,

As it feeds the early bird.

While its health is quickly failing

Through the storm a voice is heard.

Chorus concealed in halcony giggles impulsively-

Through the silent years to follow When my heart is burst in twain, Will you-ah, the hope is hollow-Mend my broken heart again?

The camel by this time has expired. Gillette, a sharp young blade, springs up from beneath an early-blooming cactus. He runs forward and, falling on his knees, throws back his arms around Polus' neck, and quavers-

Tho I seem but weak and helpless,

I can play a true friend's part;

Tho I am so young and foolish. I can soothe your breaking heart.

Polus (taking a running start and backing away from Gillette)-

I cannot impose upon you

Such a situation tense,

So I say to you, 'begone, you! Tho you owe me fifty cents.

Thru the intermittent gleamings of the haggard moon, Romeo and Gillette are seen locked in the throes of a wild embrace. They chant with all the gusto of disordered minds.

Yes, we two will linger by you

When all the others from you speed; Need a camel? We will bring 'er

To console you in your need.

Romeo (starting up)-Oh. I feel so fearfully futile!

Polus (taking shovel from camel and burying his face in his hands)-I'd walk a mile for a camel. But can 1 be sure?

Romeo (swallowing his Beechnut)-Yes, yes, oh yes, Gillette is safe!

Polus tenderly lifts his face from his hands, while three musky tears roll down his careworn cheeks. Reaching into his pocket, he tosses his friends a happy smile, and flinging up his arms in a gesture of wild abandon, he shouts wearily,---

THE Men's Pan-Hellenic Council consists of two representatives from each of the social Greek letter fraternities. The purpose of the organization is to promote a spirit of cooperation and friendliness among the fraternities and to devise proper legislation in all matters pertaining to inter-fraternity relations.

The ten fraternities are represented by voting members but a new organization must be accepted as a non-voting member for a period of one year before becoming eligible for voting membership. Officers are chosen each year from the voting members only.

Each year the Council is represented at the meeting of the National Under-Graduate Inter-Fraternity Council at New York.

THE Women's Pan Hellenic Council is composed of all the national Greek letter women's organizations on the campus.

The purpose of the organization is to maintain on a high plane fraternity life and inter-fraternity relationship: to co-operate with college authorities in their efforts to maintain high social and scholarship standards throughout the entire college; and to be a forum for the discussion of interest to the college and fraternity world.

The organizations are represented in the Pan-Hellenic Council by their president and one alumna.

The offices in Pan-Hellenic are filled from the presidency of each organization, and rotate in order of the organization's establishment on the campus.

Women's Pan Hellenic Council

THE number of voting organizations in the Women's Pan Hellenic Council at present is eleven Those in active membership in the order of their establishment at Obio University are as follows:

TORCH, as an honorary upper-class organization was first conceived in May 1913, and definitely established at that time. The idea was sponsored by Professor Clinton N. Mackinnon. The twofold original purpose of the founders was to recognize those men on the campus who in their academic life had displayed the finest qualities of campus citizenship and to exercise leadership in influencing campus optinion and action. It has always been the aim of the organization to maintain the highest possible standards as the basis of selection.

"Tap Day," which occurs each year on Senior Day, is the name of the unique and traditional ceremony which Torch uses in announcing its selection of new members. Eligibility for Torch is based upon scholastic excellence, athletic prowess, and campus leadership and personality, two of which are essential for election. Thus it occurs that some nen are chosen because of their superiority in scholarship coupled with that of leadership in campus activities aside from athletics, while others are selected as a reward for athletic distinction in addition to student ability. Torch stands for the highest ideals on the campus. Since it is the men's honorary senior organization at Ohio University, choices for membership are made mainly from the junior class, although outstanding sophomores are occasionally "tapped."

With the coming of the Men's Union in recent years. Torch has been relieved of the necessity for exercising active and responsible leadership: yet the prestige has never been lessened and its honesty of purpose has never been doubted. In the spring of 1924 Torch held a competitive, open-air sing, the idea of which had been previously suggested by Blaine Goldsberry, an alumnus of the society. A silver loving cup was awarded the organization adjudged as having presented the best group singing, and it was then decided to make the award an annual custom.

CRESSL1, the woman's honorary sorority, was organized in 1913. The purpose of the organization is to emphasize the attributes and ideals of true womanhood as shown in campus life. Scholarship, campus activity, and general attribute are the basis of membership. To be chosen, a girl must have an average of ninety percent in all her college work, an aggregate of twenty points in campus activity, and an attitude of a true citizen toward campus life in general.

Elections are made from the Senior Class in February and from the Junior Class in May. The method of announcing Spring elections is a unique and impressive ceremony. On Senior Day all student members take their places before the student body and Dean Voigt, the faculty advisor, presents the history and ideals of the organization. Following this, the different members step forward and in the tense silence which prevails, call to the platform the girls who have been chosen. A ceremony on the campus around the Cresset maple, on which the scroll of membership hangs for the day, adds a final touch of beauty and solemnity to the occasion.

While Cresset, as an organization, does not primarily carry on campus activities it does hold itself in readiness to promote anything that contributes to the best life of the campus. The past year, in addition to the annual fall reception for all women of the campus. Cresset has entertained the women of the different classes and of the faculty at informal teas at Dean Voigt's home

Two functions which members find most delightful are the costume party held in February and the luncheon occurring commencement week. At the latter, the alumnae and actives meet in tellowship that is truly inspiring

A LPHA KAPPA Chapter of Phi Mu Alpha came into being at Ohio University April 14, 1924, when the Ohio University Schubert Club secured a charter in the Sinfonia Fraternity of America.

Phi Mu Alpha was established at the New I ngland Conservatory of Music. Oct. 6, 1898, by Ossian E. Mills, originally named the Sinfonia Fraternity of America. Its members still preserve the traditions and so call themselves Sinfonians.

The fraternity owes much of its progress to Prof. C. C. Robinson who has given it his unselfish supervision. The fraternity is made up of thirty-three chapters located in outstanding music schools throughout the country. Eighteen actives and ten pledges comprise the present chapter roll.

The Co-ed's Lament

O, motion-picture man, Dear. kind Rudolph! O, mankind's noblest swain, Kind Heaven's masterpiece! You nature did attain As if for one last grand display of art, That Earth's not seen since Pollo did depart And left Earth meek.

I see you with the eyes of modern Cleo, And, seeing, needs would happy be if, Gee! oh You my Caesar were in these so modern years. It hurts, Rudolph, this pang too deep for tears.

I love you, Sheik! I love you. Sheik

Dear, kind, Rudolph,

You teach me love in near a thousand ways; You swell my aching heart 'till nothing stays The flood-gates of my soul, 'till briny tears Make blurred my eyes and in their mists appears Thy bonny face Wild fancy play a thousand pranks, my Lord.

My heart and mind in grand and great accord Make much of those rare moments when I see Our love-ship putting out for vast eternity

At Love's fast pace, At Love's fast pace.

Only thou, Rudolph. All those dim others whom my heart revered I have forgot, beloved. Let not live One jealous thought-their spirits are endeared Only as dreams to me. Love does not give Itself each week, And less to them than to the winds and trees. The silent stars, I made my early vows:

You drink my soul with every breath of these. My soul before thy soul thus bows-

I love you, Sheik

I love you. Sheik !

La Manager

L' Envoy

'Tis o'er, Rudolph.

I know can never be. How thou, a movie star, A twice-wed man, who knows how women are, A devotee of 'Sichore's art and Cin'ma's craft. Must smile't this love of mine. Oh, I'm half daft With Love so deep.

My heart is broke-but I'll not idly show it. I'll hie me hence in truest flapper fashion; With hidden love so deep that none shall know it I'll hie me hence and love with pseudo-passion A campus Sheik, A campus Sheik.

THE WASTING OF TIME AND SPACE

Being An Abridged and Deleted Chronicle of the Outstanding Events and Happenings Which Took Place During the Awful Pestilence Afflicting the Town of Athens in the Years, 1924 and 1925

September 1.

On this date the peaceful and self-respecting (if there are any) citizens of Athens sat on their various front porches, stretched them-selves, and yawning lazily, declared in lusty voices that it would not be long until the college opened. Strangely enough they were right.

September 15.

Today the first student arrived in town He was a boy, and when asked by the police force what was his mission in the city, he explained that he had come to shovel out the Beta House preparatory to occupancy in the late fall. Having heard of the famed legend of little Hercules and the garages of Augea, he planned to divert the course of the meandering Hocking, but was thwarted in his purpose by an official edit of the city council. On the days following bands of youth arrived with their picks and shovels to perform the same task on other of the dwellings of the Greeks.

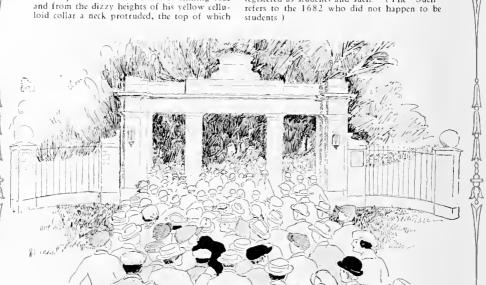

September 20.

Yesterday, the first freshman arrived upon the campus. He wore a habit of shining blue was inflated into a human head, completely devoid of all expression even in the back. It was generally conceded that he lived in Nelsonville. His shoes were of leather, and careful investigation revealed the fact that he wore garters and perhaps a suspender or two. It seemed that he bore symptoms of intellectuality, and was immediately pledged Gamma Sig. The second freshman arrived on the second day after the day before the first one came: this being Friday, he came on Friday. After finding that the circumference of his trousers measured nineteen and three-fourths inches, and that he owned two suits besides underwear, pajamas, and knickerbockers, he was pledged Phi Kap. Writing home that evening, he ex-claimed, "Don't shout, mother, I am pledged Phi Kap." He had made a fraternity.

September 22.

This was Monday, and the day before having been Sunday, the streets of the city were thronged with boys, girls, men, women, children, and even human beings all intent upon getting an education. All who had brought along thirty dollars and a fountain pen were registered as students and such. (The "Such"

This was a very important day. Some freshmen spent the day locked in an upstairs room of some fraternity house. This was done in order to let them know just how Socrates felt in his confinement before taking the final hemlock. The Greeks feel that local color is a necessity, and the consequences in the two cases are quite similar; especially at the Sig House

September 24.

Classes were first held today and as the shades of evening began to gather upon the campus eight hundred freshmen and a few sophomores felt that it would be nice if mother could be with them. It would. On this date all freshman boys become subjects of the terrible turks by the donning of certain ultra-becoming headgear.

September 26.

This evening the famous student mixer was held. Many were those who mixed, and much was the mixing. After being properly tagged with one's name or pseudonym, and one's home address, one was expected to flit about mixing with anyone with whom one cared to mix. Those who were not good mixers were not able to mix much, for here mixing was at a premium. Everyone agreed that the aftair was quite a failure, due to the fact that Pan-Hellenic girls were still forced to wear their sorenity pins on their underwear, and had no way of proving to rushees that they really belonged to such organizations.

October 3.

By this time all the sororities had secretly pledged all the girls whom they wanted and could get, and merely had to wait for a week before making public announcement or bragging about their draws. This evening several Ford's full of collegians shoved off for Springfield to see the football team stage its first conference battle. Those who stayed at home were unable to see the game on the day following.

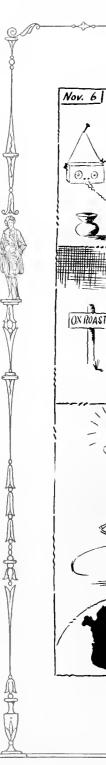

October 10.

On this date a mammoth "Thuse" was held All students are of the opinion that there is nothing quite as enjoyable as a good "Thuse". All freshmen went to the "Thuse." Those who didn't go were given their first swimming lesson in the 0072 of the Asylum Lake. It seemed cruel, but, after all, it was the only thing to do. After that all Fresh-men have gone to the "Thuses": the freshmen also decided to become exclusive and have a cheering section of their own at the game with Obetlin tomorrow. Strangely enough the practice was encouraged. Oberlin won just the same, but no one blamed the freshman cheering section. After that all was well, and the next day being Sunday, more than a dozen undergraduates attended church. It seemed that the divine light had reached us.

October 22.

Yesterday and to day the O.U. students held a straw vote for the benefit of those politicians who couldn't seem to figure out any such simple thing in advance. Straw votes at both the freshman and regular convocation revealed the fact that Coolidge was going to win. For some reason or other Mr. Coolidge forgot to thank the boys and girls for relieving him of the suspense.

October 24.

The campus was thronged with great bunches of collegiateness in the person of the Kenyon football team and their followers. After beating them soundly in the afternoon the boys decided to hold a little cotillion in their honor in the evening. Late in the evening an uninvited guest arrived. It is not known who invited it. The guilty persons would doubtless have been shot if apprehended. The guest in question was a pole cat, and it immediately got into action. That was the last dance of the evening.

November 6.

A Broadcasting Station was established at Ohio. It is not WAOX: neither is it JYOZ. All freshmen were immediately advised not to try to tune in. It is the official horn of the University into which all the students are at some time given a chance to toot.

November 15.

Nov. 15

Nov. 22

A flock of oxen were roasted today, and gallons of "Burgoo" were served to thirsty students, alumni and dads who had congregated to see the football boys beat Dennison in the Homecoming Game of the season. They saw the game. That evening everyone partook in a huge brawl at the Gym. Two orchestras played and those not trampled under had a large evening. A good time was had by all.

November 22.

The entire town went crazy this evening on account of two simple words flashed over the wires from Delaware. Everyone kept yelling them to everyone else. "We Won!" They were kind words. No one had said them about Wesleyan for three years. Ohio University suddenly found herself a place of privilege. It was a new sensation. When the team came home everyone hurried to the depot, and a burnt offering in the form of all the empty boxes in town was offered up to Coach Peden in font of the Alamni Gateway. Later all went home and tried to sleep. The arrival home of the band at some zero hour put a stop to that and the entire evening was turned over to celebration and cajolity.

November 26.

On this date an obnoxious insect made its appearance on the campus. Everyone shouted "Oh Wasp, where is thy Sting?" They soon found out. Some indiscreet persons have never been the same even with the stinger removed, and the Thanksgiving recess beginning the following day was a Godsend, enabling certain people to crawl back, out of sight, until things blew over.

December 11.

Someone suggested that the Ohio University football team be called the "Pioneers", due to the fact that this is the pioneer university of the Northwest Territory, and is first in everything, and all that. Sounded like a good name, and next fall when you hear anyone talking about the "Pioneer", don't think he means the hearing organs of some well known animal, but remember the football team.

ATHE HARD

December 17.

The quaint old society of Torch came forth this morning with names of three more men to grace its bonored rolls. Recipients of the fire brand were Keplinger, Tubaugh, and Antle. All three were immediately placed in "Who's Who."

December 19.

This and the day following the great hegira took place in Athens. Each one who could possibly do so boarded one or more of the various trains leaving the city and went as far as he possibly could. All day long the grand terminal on Union Street was filled to overflowing. By night-fall it was deserted; so was the rest of the town.

January 15.

The new year is upon us, and after a week of school, everyone was glad to hustle down to the gym and perch on the upper side of a board for an hour or two and listen to the lilting melodies of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra. Most everyone was disappointed because the conductor did not have long hair, but be seemed to do just as well without it.

January 22.

The sanity of many hung in a balance on account of the cross-word puzzle mania which today reached the highest tide of its spectacular career. Students and professors went around in a daze completely submerged in a sea of vertical vowels and horizontal consonants, and secluded corners in all fraternity houses and dorms were filled with the dead and dying remains of those who didn't even stop long enough to eat.

January 24.

All the students on the campus except six arose this morning at the uncarthly hour of nine to see the sun take a vacation for a few minutes by hiding behind the moon.

January 28.

Hell froze over yesterday and today. At least, if it didn't it missed the best chance in years. It was fine weather to sit around the fire, so all students spent their time in study and reflection over the impending exams. All except 1500.

February 2.

The groundhog pulled an awful boner today by coming out of his bole and sitting around in the rain waiting for the sun to shine. It finally did, and he went back in the said hole quite pleased. Among other disagreeable forms of life which appeared on this day was the "Wasp." This edition is only spoken of in whispers, and written about in Sanscrit

February 6.

This day marked the end of the term, also the end of the final examinations which everyone had enjoyed so much. At its close ten boys and girls sorrowfully packed up their suitcases and laundry bags, and bit for Miami, Dennison, Cincinnati, and other such schools. It seemed the only thing to do under such circumstances. This was the day that authorities had picked for the end of the world. It didn't end, except for those ten, but came very near the edge for some thirty five who were placed on probation. The darned thing almost stopped turning the next night, bowever, when those five boys from Dennison had the crust to score more points than our team in a basketball game.

5 6 1 6 mm

February 18.

One hundred and twenty one years ago today a bunch of the old boys like Manassah Cutler got together and decided to start this institution. It hasn't stopped yet, and the only danger is that of exceeding the speed limit. If they could only see it now! Founders' Day enabled all serious-minded students on the campus to link the past with the present, and teally appreciate the fine old traditions of Ohio University.

February 19.

The Barrymore family, traveling incognito, made its appearance in town this evening with the presentation of "The Torchbearers" by the Community Drama League in which the Ohio University faculty numbers a great many members. Prof. C. N. MacKinnon was unable to meet his classes for days to come so busy was he refusing offers made by everyone from Florenz Ziegfeld to Barnum and Bailey.

February 20.

The Seniors are still worrying about the choice of a mark of distinction. Candy canes for the men and dog collars for the girls have been suggested. The class seems dubious about adopting both or either.

February 21.

Kenyon played basketball here this evening; so did Ohio, but the game ended with Ohio one point behind the ultra-collegians from the rural community of Gambier. It seemed the beginning of the Ohio basketball season. But far be it from anyone at the Green and White college to begrudge a victory from the Kenyon boys.

February 25.

The Glee Club appeared this evening clad in tuxedos and broad grins to sing for the students at Ewing Hall. They sang, and the students applauded, and between the two a good time was had by all. Ohio University is proud of her glee club.

February 26.

This afternoon Dr. C. C. Morrison, the editor of some sort of a magazine up at Chicago, confided in a few students his plan to stop war on the face of the earth's broad countenance. It is now merely a matter of the time it takes those hearing him to get out of college before all war is brought to an ignominious end; that is, of course, until another one begins.

February 28.

The calendar struck twenty eight this morning, and still the lost, strayed, or stolen loving cups which departed hastily from certain fraternity mantles during the last week have not returned. TAN I'H 'NAT: O

'Tis a queer turn of affairs to say the least. The mystery is almost as great as ''I Wonder What's Become of Sally?'' And, by the way, Sally has recently been discovered. Her whereabouts will be published as an exclusive scoop in next year's Athena, if any.

March 3.

On this date certain members of the junior class became pressed for funds and decided to levy dues of fifty cents per head in order to appear in properly garbed garments of "sprig." It was also rumored about that a Junior Prom was to be held at some time in the month of April which as everyone knows is the wet month of the year. All the usual stalls about this prom being the biggest and best ever to be given are being glibly circulated in regard to the Prom of '25.

March 4.

This morning at the hour of ten it was officially noised about the campus that Gamma Sigma is the really studious fraternity on Ohio's campus. For seven successive semesters this group of intellectuals has been rated as the greatest rival of Phi Beta Kappa and Beta Fheta Pi upon the campus.

March 7.

A group of men were discussing the fact that our chances were rather good to beat Hiram this evening when a freshman piped up with the question: "Hiram who?" He was immediately placed in a ditch by the side of the road and a haystack playfully tossed upon him.

March 9.

The eternal secret of the molluse was grossly exposed to an inquisitive campus this evening at the annual celebration of Cupid's night, and the casual presentation of the college play. Little nude cupids could be seen darting hither and thither all evening, and a stranger might have taken the performance for a practice session of one of Miss Savage's classes in Archery.

March 11.

The basketball season came to a close with a bang this evening in some sort of a gymnasium over at Springfield. Springfield, as is generally known is a town in Ohio known chiefly as the seat and shelter of Wittenberg College. It would waste entirely too much time, and hardly enough space to comment tactfully upon the success of the basketball season.

March 14.

A Acod Day

Two or three hundred freshmen went home this week-end to say a last farewell to their parents, friends, relatives, and dear ones. The zero hour approaches for next week is "prep week." At its end the ternble secrets of the Greeks will be exposed to another flock of hitherto innocent boys and girls.

March 15.

The University will probably have two or three hundred basketball stars in attendance next year as a result of the tournament which was held here yesterday and the day before. It seems impossible that they, can be able to resist the school after such a pleasant week-end as they must have had and after reading in the pink supplement of the GREEN AND WHITE all about that basketball team of ours and its various achievements. Athenas will be sent upon request to any of those who still have any doubt about coming here to college.

March 20.

Everyone is rushing to the dictionary today to find the meaning of the word "forensic", which seems to be commanding everyone's attention. All were convinced that the question of the adoption of the Child-Labor Amendment in Ohio is now settled for ever and ever and ever and a day. This statement is almost as safe as Judge Caverly's sentence on the two well-known exterminators of that Franks boy in Chicago last year. But to get within the reach of the multitude, the debating season opened tonight.

March 28.

Another week-end with that damp month of April just around the corner. Evervone seems to be going to the Skit Show this evening, as it was reported quite entertaining on the night before. It is reasonably safe to attend a skit show here any more, now that the frait of the poultry yard has become a bit passe'.

April 1.

The question is, "is it or is it not?" Philosophers who spend lifetimes, and several years to boot, trying to settle this problem should come back to earth on April Fool's Day and take a look around. A census of the fools in existence, if taken on that day would be disheartening to say the least.

April 9.

Few realized why they called tomorrow Good Friday until they found that Easter vacation of four entire days is to begin today. Of course there wouldn't be any school on Saturday and Sunday anyhow, but tomorrow and Monday has been declared a holiday out of the goodness of someone's great big heart. Those living in Athens County will have time to go home, and perhaps help a little with the spring work. Corn planting time is almost here.

"And the Wasp Descended"

April 14.

How pleasant it is to return from a vacation and have a letter from a guy named registrar who takes the liberty to inform one that he is delinquent in the following subjects: but that is the way of the world, and anyone who gets worried and fails to take full advantage of the "sprigtib" is one of that kind of fools generally referred to with a "d" and a dash. It doesn't mean dainty either,

April 18.

Denison dropped down today to open our baseball season. Not a bad job, and everyone is quite anxious to know who is going to close it. It seems that the job is np to Wesleyan, and we have always been rather good at closing athletic seasons at Delaware. But you can't always tell. In order to be on the safe side, it might be well to assume that the game will be a good one.

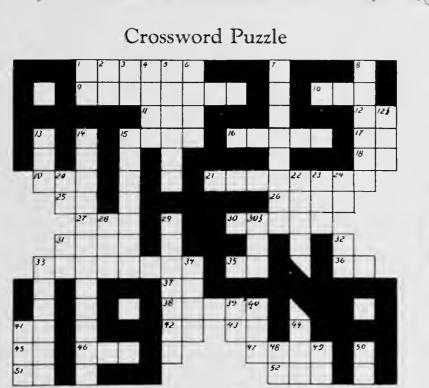

April 25.

The baseball team departed today for part unknown. No one is awfully worried about them down at Oxford, but at Cincinnati-that's where the catch comes in. Perhaps they aren't all used to the big city. Everyone is anxious to see how they will get used to the big city methods of playing baseball. That crowd up in front of the Atheneon seems to be waiting for a score or something of the sort, but we would rather be alone on the campus, wouldn't we, darlin? Oh, "Sprigtib!"

May 1.

May Day, and the clock reminds the writer that its almost time for this almanac to go to press. He hopes you've enjoyed it, and appreciates the fact that some high school surely must miss this sort of talent. The days of Sammy Pepys are at an end, but like John Brown, his spirit goes marching on. There should be some great, iron, spirit-proof gates at Westminster Abbey to keep these ethereal concoctions safely stowed away. But that recalls the fact that this particular Sammy must go up on the campus and see who the freshmen have elected Queen of the May, and watch them wind the May pole. The sands of Time have run their course, and five more weeks will find the class of '25 leaving the campus forever.

Skeletons of the Greeks

THE Greeks on the campus of Ohio University aren't anything at all. They're a hyprocritical lot, and live around in ramshackle huts which they call houses, where no decent student would be caught rooming. Rumors float here and there, unverified and undenied, which cause self-respecting people to shiver with horor. Family skeletons are nothing compared with the unspeakable horrors that are hidden away in the cellars of some of the supposedly reputable organizations.

The Betas live in a little tumble-down shack near the end of creation. Beta Theta Pi translated from the Greek means "Ancestor Worshippers," and, in order to live up to their name, they take almost anything. (The "almost" is placed here merely for the sake of politeness.)

The Betas think they are quite the stuff because they have been here for such a long time, but this is an exception to that rule about good liquor which is supposed to improve with age—they haven't, and the liquor never has a chance to. In fact, if they remain on the campus many more years, they'll be so low that there won't be a cellar deep enough to hold them. But, their chapter here is just about the average. The boast of having good chapters in the East is a good joke. When brothers from other chapters thappen in they always compliment the boys on their fine home, because it's better than they've been used to.

It's a well-known fact that the Betas tried to borrow the Sig House for rushing this year, but of course the Sigs haven't anything but a house, and couldn't afford to lend it to them.

The Triangle T. Triangle Club has a new hut over on President Street. It has an awful bold front, but, outside of that, is pretty bogus. The Delts have been trying all year to bring their personnel up to a hundred but can't get men to join that easy. There has been some talk down at their house of putting up a recruiting station down near the depot next September. No one thinks very much of the Delts. A flock of them can always be found up at the Varsity Inn or on Rauch's corner, and they brag about the fact that they are candy ankles: everyone knows about it, but no one else would be ignorant enough to brag about the fact.

About a tenth of the girls on the campus are crazy about the Delts: at least, that is supposed to be the cause. The inspiration is generally conceded to be good, but they wouldn't inspire anything but insanity. There has been talk of having a poll to decide the best looking boy in the chapter, but some are afraid it would cause a riot that would knock the bold front down into the Hocking; a vote on the homeliest would be much more appropriate. They are a studious lot, however, and thought seriously of petitioning Phi Beta Kappa last year—to say nothing of Phi Mu Alpha.

The most exclusive of the Lindley annexes, in other words the Phi Delta Theta house, is located down on Mulberry Street, so called on account of the spreading mulberry trees. It's small enough to make the proper-sized apartment you read about for young married couples, but they pack quite a clan in it every year. However, most of the boys live in Athens. The Phi Delts specialize in preacher's sons, having about seven. They think it covers up the rest of the vice in the chapter. It doesn't! Dean Chubb will vouch for that as he lives right beside them and has to listen to all the disturbance even though they keep that side of the house camouflaged with darkness. It takes more than that to fool the Dean, but he condescends to look over the fact as long as the freshmen act as caddies for his backyard golf course.

There are more than ninety Phi Delt chapters in this country and China. They think there is safety in numbers, but they should have about twice that many to be completely safe. Of course, the process of elimination holds good and they have a few good chapters; these are mostly in the South with a few in other parts of the country where they happen to be the only national except Sigma Pi on the campus.

But, speaking of the Sigs, they live in the mansion across the street from the Library, and if they only knew it, wouldn't have to buy their own books. Their other chapter is at the University of California and it takes about a month for them to decide on which side of the continent they should have the convention. Last year California won and forgot to let this chapter know when the convention was to be.

The Sigs sure are an athletic crew: their mantle is baded down with cups most of which were won by fraud, but that makes little difference to them. A cup is a cup at the Sig house and not a saucer. They're trying to get the University to move the new gym across the street from them. This would avoid the necessity of installing athletic equipment in the basement of the stately dwelling.

Down on Last State St, where it makes the big turn before entering the Angel Alley locality dwell the Phi Kaps. They like to be called Phi Taus but no one will call them that just because they happen to like it. The entire name of the organization is Phi Kappa Tau (this is mentioned for the benefit of the freshmen and sophomores on the campus who have not heard of them). There is plenty of room here to print their ritual, but everyone knows it, so what would be the use? It contains references to 'love, honor, and obey." and 'til death do us part," being mostly "bull." Even the members themselves admit that it is an awful bore but they have to have some kind of ceremony: even athletic clubs have their rituals, and the Phi Kaps have one of the best athletic clubs in the state. They haven't an 'A', C.'' sign out in front of their house as yet, but have one ondered

This bunch of big brawny athletes have motoring as their avocation. Everyone in the chapter owns an interest in some kind of a dilapidated Ford, and occasionally the boys entice some of the campus co-eds into taking a ride with them. Of course, they are kikled out of school immediately, but that is nothing after having experienced the pleasure of a romp about the surrounding country in one of the Phi Kap chariots.

Talking about the Lambda Chis is talking in big figures'. They think the year lost when they don't establish about ten chapters, and it is admitted that the year would have been lost when this group was granted a charter it nineteen others had not been established. The Lambda Chis aren't satisfied with taking boys one at a time, but insist on pledging twins. They are about as anxious to get twins as the Phi Delts are to get preachers' sons.

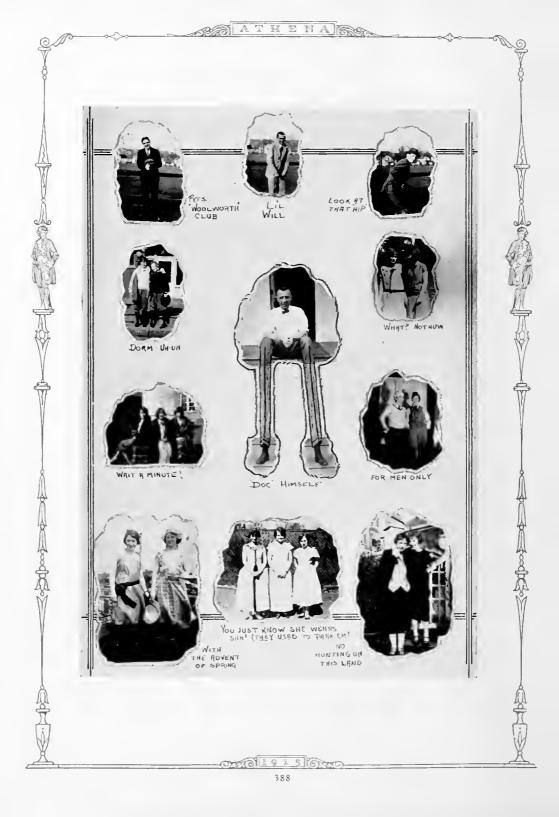

The L. C. A.'s have a boarding club up on Congress Street that formerly belonged to the Sigs before their ship came in: it isn't much force, but is plenty good enough for either of the organizations that have lived in it. The Lam Chis usually have a plurality in Torch, and occasionally one of the members is rushed for Cresset. Nevertheless, they are a bunch of "nice boys."

Just around the corner from the Phi Kap house at the end of Angel Alley, and in the midst of the wholesale milk and cream district live the Theta Chis. They have a stately dwelling patterned after the executive mansion on the island of Guam, and lights are usually going there at all hours of the night. 'Tis rumored that they have burned a great deal of midnight oil, and not quite all of it is gasoline, as is the case with their neighbors.

The Theta Chis have always boasted loud and long because the fraternity scholarship cup happens to rest on the mantle a great deal of the time, but it seems that no one else wants it. Phi Beta Kappa is not represented upon the campus, and that they are trying to secure a charter is the only justification for such gross studiousness. It is, at least, known that none of this brilliance is inherent, but all comes from ten hours daily study on the part of each man. They like the girls about as well as anyone else on the campus but are ashamed to admit it because they are afraid the feeling is not mutual. Rare judgment?

Touring Sorority Hall

U P the steps, this door please, now turn to the right That's the Alpha Sig parlor. They usually take the normal students, you know, the girls (2) who crowd the elderly ladies home after having received the teacher's pension for thirty-three years of service. Some of the pledges have been reported to have had a date since school started, hut the old maid sisters hope to train them before they can be initiated. Yes, they have only rockers in the room. Rocking is so soothing to the nerves of the older sisters who can not stand so much running around to Cresset Teas. Deans Mass Meetings and the 1 ecture Course. How old must you be to enter the bonds of the sorority? Well they have decreased the age limit to thirty five now, allowing much younger (2) girls to pledge themselves.

Directly across the hall are the girls who should be called "Sunny." They're so bright. Put your glasses on, look dignified and on no condition, laugh. These are the most essential requirements to gain entrance to the Zeta Tau room. Those cups? Oh for grades, perhaps, but then again, they are probably trying to make the Sig living room appear insignificant. They usually rate two dances a year, their own spring and fall trolic. You have met some of the girls probably at the Library or seen them sitting in the front row of their classes or in the private office of any professor, telling of the hours spent on his subjects, how interesting he is and how well they like the course and a lot more "bunk." Afternoon dates only are permitted but none of the national officers need worry about the maidens being tempted to break over.

Step right across the hall. Do you know that lyric. "The Rose of Alpha Xi"? Very pretty when played on the Harmonica as it was at their dance. What are their colors? I'm not sure, but there must be red among them somewhere because all the girls love to wear it. When you can't hear them, that's when somebody's choking them or they have bronchitis, you can see them, very plainly two blocks away. It's well that this isn't a rural college or they would be in constant danger of arousing the bulls temper. Who is the Rose of this chapter? Try and find her. This is our tenth year and we never could find a girl that resembled any sort of a flower but a daisy, perhaps.

The second floor is occupied by the campus high bats, the snobs, so to speak. Turn to the right, the first door. What a stately room, the pictures of women taken in the sixteenth century. This is the Pi Phi's famous hall. Most of their alumni came over on the Mavflower and really some of the present actives should have been in school about the time of the civil war. I'm afraid their reputation is about to reach the mire. See, here-to-fore, I indley Hall was bossed by the Pi Phi's and Jennie O'Dell. Well, they have all moved out this semester and are far away from our campus. Aren't they the old "cut-ups"? A week after pledging one of their pledges admitted that she belonged to the best traf at O. U. All of the Pi Phi's agreed also. But, why was there a suppressed smile on all of the other countenances' 1 wonder'.

This next stall belongs to the Delta Sigs. The girls with the 'pep.'' they say. You've never heard of them? When this year is over, nobody will be able to say that. Probably not favorably heard of, but they are bound to receive publicity. The Athens town girls who were unable to make anything else started a sewing circle club and they later went national under the name of Delta Sigma 1 psilon. One of the pledges' father has an interest in the Juicy Truit Chewing Gum Company. That helps to account for the noise when they are around

Across the hall we find the campus beauties, the Alpha Gams. If the Alpha Gams weren't here, there would be no beauty contest, either. They manage to get the entire chapter nominated but if I am any judge they won't make more than the Tin Mirror. They rate all the best dances, that is. Tri Gam, Tau Sig, and most all of them went to the Art Club and Woman's League Dance, the girls buying the tickets.

The next room belongs to the Alpha Delts. the catty girls of the campus. How they talk and fight. I suppose you heard of the girls who borrowed furniture to entice the girls to pledge themselves to Alpha Delt, then took it back the day after pledging. That's just one of their little tricks. They specialize in solo dances and the entire chapter gives several selections at the Varsity Inn every nite, much to the disgust and mirth of the onlookers.

The last room down, on the right hand side is the Theta Phi Alpha room. They're running a close race with Cresset and Zeta Tau Alpha, at least, they're trying. They can keep the records of everybody on the campus because three of their girls are employed in the Registrar's and President's office. This probably accounts for their standing on the campus, the girls can add a few points here and there. Their Formal Winter Brawl has been a subject for lengthy discussion on the campus. Where the money came from is a mystery. Perhaps Mr. Gross, the owner of the Majestic Theatre staked them.

Last on this floor, just across the hall, the Tri Sigs hang out; the school-ma'am's rendezvous, in other words. They welcome the two year students, young and old. They are proud to announce for the five hundredth time that the president of Pan Hell is a Tri Sig (To those that don't understand, that honor is bestowed to each sorority in their turn). Did you see their part in the skit? Made cute vegetables didn't they. So fresh and green.

Just because the Alpha lota Pi's (don't ever say that for they're Theta Upsilon's now) live in the cellar is no sign that they like their little drink. Some of them do, the Tan Delts say, but the rest of the T. U.'s know nothing of it. The Editors of the "Wasp" accuse them of carrying yellow fingers, but that everyone knows is pseudo. Dating is their hobby. They are constantly talking about their men and their dates with the Tau Delts. 'Tis a shame that they should stoop——(CENSORED), yet they do seem to enjoy it.

Yes, the Lambda Omega's are their neighbors for they live in the cellar, too. The girls are so fickle! This is the third time that they have changed their name. Well, they're not so fickle with men. You see, one must get a man first, and so far, a Lambda Omega has never been caught with a man. For the most part they crowd Boyd Hall and may be seen at the shows most any nite with one of the Matrnos of the Hall.

The Phresomeans are the chaperones of Sorority Hall. It is they who blush with shame and throw up their hands at the wild things the Chi Omega's and Alpha Zi's do. It has always been said that the Phresome girls are typical Salvation Army lassies, so sweet (?) and innocent. Mostly innocent! Rather settled? Well rather, but don't you feel that we need some like that to balance the others?

No Andrew Market

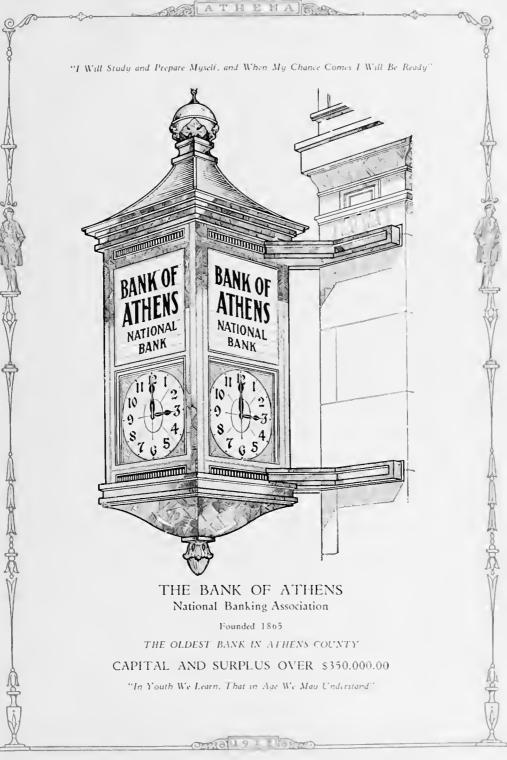

The Pi Kaps and Alpha Gammas live out in town. They're so wild and exclusive that they could not think of associating with the other Greek letter girls. You never heard of either of them? That shouldn't worry you for very few people have anything to do with them.

The Pi Kaps gave a bid to every freshman girl that entered and finally had to bid a few Sophomores to get their quota of five.

The Alpha Kappa Gamma's live next door to the post-office where they can get their mail, and all of their dance bids (Y.W.C.A, Women's League, etc.) as they flow in. Some of the girls were nominated for the Silver Mirror. This probably accounts for one of the judges being accused of having laughing sickness.

Thus, you have heard the pedigree of all of our Sorority girls. They are good girls in their way, but none weight nearly enough.

A little off the highways and byways of life the Tau Sigs have a hovel which they have seen fit to call a house. It is a house, but there are many kinds of houses, and it is with hesitancy that anyone adds the proper prefix to this one. At any rate, they live in the place, and seem to make the best of it. This winter someone insisted that they install a bath. Rumor has it that the suggestion came from the Purity League, but most people are of the opinion that it was the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals which made the suggestion.

The Tau Sigs have a small chapter. The reason is obvious, but they are strongly in favor of deferred pledging on account of a reason equally obvious. They are never able to pledge anyone for two or three weeks anyhow, and deferred pledging would cover up this grievous circumstance.

Kappa Psi Alpha is really nothing more than a boarding club, and hardly deserves mention here. However, it might be well to say that these boys expect to unite with a local at Marietta at some time in the far distnat future and have a real fraternity. Here's wishing them well, but what could be wrong with the Marietta local to cause it to take such a rash step?

The Kappa Psis boast of quite a number of the reptile family. No one else would boast about such a thing. These snakes frequent the various campus dens of vice, and reflect great credit upon the society—that is in the eyes of the members. In the eyes of the world a great deal of laughter is provoked. They bought a new house this year. At least, they moved into a new house and announced to the world that they had bought it. All interested parties frankly doubted it, and the fact is now known that not even the kitchen sink is paid for. Of course, real estate is quite high on that street. The people on East State want it to put up their garages on, and the location is excellent. It must not be left unsaid that the Kappa Psis are petitioning Phi Gam, and have a reliable promise of a chapter in 1964.

The Tri Gams live in a colonial affair up on Carpenter Street. A person never hears much about them on the campus, but their resort is said to be a favorite recruiting ground for the local battery. They have been organized on the campus for a year and several months, and still have nothing but charter members. Perhaps they don't charge them anything to get in, but that's no excuse and the campus will not accept it.

The Tri Gams have no other chapters either. That is a polite way in saying they are local, but they have hopes. You can't exactly call them high hopes, for no other fraternity at Ohio would stoop so low. They are so low that the news of the day doesn't reach them.—but that's nothing compared with the fact that the Tau Delts from their place of vantage haven't even heard of the passage of the Volsted Act.

However, the Tri Gams couldn't aim very high and get results. When Gamma Gamma Gamma becomes Alpha Tau Omega on this campus two organizations are going to get stung. Let there be emphasis on the "when!"

Wallood Rook

But this exposure of hypocrisy must cease. The shameless truth is hard on the best interest of the University, but the writers have attempted to be impartial judges on the seat of the scorners. Perhaps, after all, some poor barbarians have merely been giving vent to their pent up emotions, and it's just a case of sour grapes. At least, they can't be very sweet.

Alma Mater

WE'ER we take our book of mem'ries And scan its pages through and through, We'll find no days that glow so brightly As those we spent at old O. U.

> Within our Alma Mater's portals We meet her children hand to hand, And when there comes the day of parting Still firm and loyal we will stand.

> > Alma Mater, Ohio Alma Mater brave and fair. Alma Mater, we hail thee For we own thy kindly care.

Alma Mater, Ohio When we read thy story o'er, We revere thee and cheer thee As we sing thy praise once more.
